House Group Scores Communism, Fascism

PETRILLO HIT IN SWEEPING NEW CHARGES

Truman Asked To Force Clark To Take Action Against 'Reds'

WASHINGTON, April 24—The house un-American activities committee lashed out today in three different directions — James C. Petrillo, Communism and Fascism.

Rep. McDowell (R) Pa., reported on the progress of his Fascism sub-committee, and his fellow Pennsylvania Republican Rep. Kearns, was named by Chairman Thomas (R) N. J., to in[illegible]é Petrillo and the AFL union.

same time, Thomas ed a letter to the ouse urging President [illegible]n to order Attorney General Clark to open an immediate offensive against American Communists.

Thomas told the President that it will be "sheer folly to spend 50 million dollars to purge the government of Communists, or 400 million dollars to stop the Communists in Greece, if our department of justice is not going to face this issue squarely at home."

McDOWELL said that he and committee investigators had already been looking into the Fascist situation for six weeks, and that probably eight more weeks of investigations would pass before open hearings were held.

RUSSIANS TRAIN GERMANS TO RUN OCCUPIED REICH

LONDON, April 24 — The London Daily Mail said today that 90,000 German officers and noncoms under leadership of the German commanders at Stalingrad are being trained in Russia to assume key posts in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany.

The officers are reported commanded by Field Marshal Friedrich Von Paulus and General Walther Von Seydlitz, who formed the pro-Soviet "free-Germany committee" immediately following the German disaster at Stalingrad.

The newspaper said that western allied authorities are carefully studying information received on these officers' activities.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Walter Kiernan

Plans for '48 are shaping up — the Republicans will return to Philadelphia, Durocher will return to Brooklyn and the CIO will not return to the AFL.

Philadelphia paid $200,000 for the GOP convention. The city will furnish everything except the candidate.

Dewey, Taft and Vandenberg all ran on the Philadelphia track before but it turned fast on the last day and Willkie came from behind.

But it's good to know that CIO-AFL peace discussions are to start again with that dove of peace, old John L. Lewis, on the peace committee.

There could be no better expert for joining the factions of labor than the man who created them.

Anyway New York is getting a platypus for its zoo — a creature we might profitably study.

He looks awful, he feels worse and he's happy.

Witness Says May Used Check To Open Account

WASHINGTON, April 24 — A Kentucky banker today testified how ex-congressman Andrew J. May used a $10,000 check of the Garsson interests to start a lumber company bank account.

The witness was Glen Spradlin, former vice president and cashier of the First National bank in May's home town of Prestonsburg, Ky.

Spradlin was a prosecution witness at the conspiracy trial of the former chairman of the house military affairs committee and officials of the Garsson munitions combine.

THE GOVERNMENT contends that the Cumberland Lumber company of Prestonsburg for whom the account was started, was used by May and the Garssons to hide payments to the congressman for intercession with the war department in behalf of Garsson war contracts.

Spradlin identified a cashier's check which originated with the Erie Basin Metal Products company, a Garsson concern, as the one May used to open the account.

He testified that May's signature was the only one honored by the bank in connection with the Cumberland account. The banker said that May told him the company had no board of directors and no stock issued.

SPRADLIN was preceded on the witness stand by Emil Kohout of the American National Bank and Trust company of Chicago.

Kohout testified as to the authenticity of two $10,000 checks, one made payable by the Erie Basin company to Henry Garsson and the other payable to Murray Garsson.

Both Garssons along with Joseph F. Freeman, their Washington agent, are co-defendants with May in the conspiracy trial.

SCIOTO FALLING HERE; WEATHER WILL BE COOLER

Stage of the Scioto river at Circleville was 8:02 feet Thursday morning with the water level slowly dropping. Light rain began falling at 8 a. m. Thursday but no further flood damage was anticipated.

The river level fell 4.06 feet during the 24 hours ended at 7:30 a. m. Thursday. The high temperature reading during the 24-hour period ended Thursday morning was 79 degrees and the low was 63. The calculations were made by the state highway department.

After one of the warmest days of Spring, the mercury was falling Thursday and the weatherman promised cool weather Thursday night and Friday.

Highest temperatures of the year so far were recorded over the state yesterday afternoon, but rain this morning sent the mercury down at a rapid pace.

A drop of 21 degrees in four hours was recorded at Cleveland where the thermometer went from 56 degrees at 6 a. m. to 44 at 10 a. m.

Forecasters said that the rain would be ending this afternoon, with cloudy and cool conditions hanging on through tomorrow. There was a chance that Saturday would be fair and warmer.

The mercury hit 84 degrees at Chesapeake yesterday afternoon and it was 80 at Toledo, which seldom warms up at the same rate as the rest of the state.

INDEPENDENCE PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, April 24—Sen. Tydings (D) Md., today introduced in the senate a bill providing for Puerto Rican independence.

CARELESSNESS SEEN AS CAUSE OF TEXAS BLASTS

GALVESTON, Tex., April 24—Coast Guard investigation of the Texas City disaster entered its sixth day in Galveston today with an unknown number of witnesses still to be heard.

Testimony from 15 persons already has been entered in the record.

The most significant development was a statement by Capt. John D. Lutz, Chicago, a member of the Army-Navy explosives safety board.

He asserted that the chain of explosions and fires which leveled the Texas City waterfront and killed an estimated 575 persons last Wednesday and Thursday resulted from "the lack of proper orders and carelessness in handling on the part of everybody connected with the shipping of ammonium-nitrate fertilizer."

Testimony at the hearing has established that the fire which broke out aboard the French ship Grandcamp spread too rapidly for the crew to combat it.

Also, witnesses said, the craft was abandoned by the crew without any definite warning to firemen and spectators on the dock that there might be an explosion.

Members of the Coast Guard board have said they are convinced that a careless smoker was to blame for the entire disaster. They have been told that "no smoking" regulations were violated frequently on the ships and in the dock area.

PARTIAL REPORT ON OHIO LIQUOR PROBE STUDIED

Legislators And Herbert Nearly Agreed Now On Financial Program

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—The first partial report of the senate's special liquor investigating committee vied for legislative interest today with near agreement between leaders and Governor Herbert on a financial program.

The liquor probers highlighted their report with a recommendation that public hearings be given on all applications for new permits.

Other highlights of the liquor report:

Increase the liquor board membership from four to five;

Increase the salaries of the board members and the director, but with no amount of increase specified, (members now receive $4,500 while the director gets $6,500);

Require both the board and the director to promulgate rules and regulations, publish them, and keep them on file and up to date;

Establish a separate enforcement division, with agents being schooled along highway patrol lines before they are made permanent employes.

ASSEMBLY leaders and Governor Herbert agreed on most aspects of a program that would cost the state about 31 and ¾ millions a year in local aid, as against the 16 millions received in 1945 and the 21 millions allocated last year.

The governor admitted that "we did not reach an absolute, definite agreement," but added that "I think we are getting closer together."

There were still some differences of opinion on the question of vacating the admissions tax, which currently is a three per cent levy yielding the state some three million dollars a year. One conferee, however, said that it was practically agreed to vacate the field and thus authorize cities to levy on this source without limit — possibly up to ten per cent.

In the two-hour-and-a-half conference last night, held at the governor's mansion, Herbert said nothing "definite" had been agreed on the proposal specific-

OHIO ASSEMBLY URGED TO ORDER WALLACE HOME

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—The Ohio house of representatives was urged today to call upon Henry W. Wallace to return home.

Rep. George Braden (R-Trumbull) introduced a resolution expressing "to Mr. Wallace its opinion that he can best serve the cause of peace by returning to the United States of America at his earliest convenience", and proposing to send a copy of the resolution to Wallace "wherever he may be."

Wallace, the resolution stated, "has persistenly waged attack "has persistently waged attack speeches abroad," and pointed out that "undue weight is given to these remarks in view of his former high government position."

The resolution was sent to the reference committee.

3 DIE IN CRASH

FULTON, KANS., Arpil 24 — Three men were killed instantly today when a Frisco railroad Kansas City-Florida passenger train struck a gasoline transport truck at a Fulton intersection.

AFTER HEARING the government charge that he cashed a $1,000 check signed by a soldier for whom he sought a war department favor in 1944, Andrew J. May, former congressman from Kentucky, and his daughter, Mrs. Olga Latta, leave court in Washington. May is on trial with officials of the Garsson munitions combine on charges of conspiracy.

Anne Downing Champion Speller of City Schools

Anne Downing, 7th grade pupil in the Corwin school will represent Circleville at the finals to be held Saturday, May 3, in the Southern hotel at Columbus to determine the spelling championship of 28 central Ohio counties.

Anne won the city championship, it was announced Thursday, as a climax to elimination spelling contests in the various schools. In the interbuilding contest other participants were Mary Ann McClure, Walnut school; Elliot Hawkes and Carol Ann Johnson, Franklin school; Sally Cochran, High street; and Eleanor Smith, 8th grade.

The spelling competition was under the sponsorship of a Columbus newspaper and the winner of the district championship at the May 3 finals will receive a four-day all-expense trip to Washington, D. C., and a chance to win the national championship.

ELIMINATION spelling bees were held in the four Circleville schools in the last few days. Winners in each grade in the four schools were:

Walnut — 2nd grade, Patricia Smith; 3rd grade, Patricia McCain; 4th grade, Mary Ann McClure; 5th grade, David Edgington.

High—2nd grade, Alberta Hill; 3rd grade, Bernard Moats; 4th grade, Sally Cochran; 5th grade, Patty Anderson; 6th grade, Theresa Hill.

Franklin — 2nd grade, Carol Ann Johnson and James McCarty; 3rd grade, Joan Merriman and Judy Ramsey; 4th grade, Elliot Hawkes; 5th grade, Carolyn Smith.

FIREWORKS SEEN AT UN SESSION ON PALESTINE

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 24—Advance symptoms indicated today that the United Nations special assembly on Palestine will meet in a strained and unruly atmosphere at Flushing Meadows next Monday.

An immediate battle is in prospect for the opening hours on election of a presiding chairman. The first clash between opposing factions is slated for the moment when those nominations begin.

The second major outburst on the floor undoubtedly will break out as soon as the chairman calls for adoption of the agenda, which is limited to the single issue of appointing a fact-finding commission for Palestine. Powerful support may line up with the Arab states to break the agenda wide open for general debate.

A third and not unimportant issue hovering over the special assembly is the question of representation for the Jews. Bitter demands supported in some instances by major powers may force the assembly to take more than cursory note of the requests from private and semi-official Jewish organizations for participation in the Palestine discussions.

BANK HEAD NAMED

COLUMBUS, O., April 24 — Paul A. Mitchell, executive vice president of the Citizens Savings Bank and Trust company of Hamilton, was appointed state superintendent of banks today by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Miners Give $100,000 To Phone Union

WASHINGTON, April 24—The United Mine Workers union today contributed $100,000 to the National Federation of Telephone Workers to aid the union in the 18-day-old strike for higher wages.

A check for this amount was presented to the telephone union by John T. Jones and John J. Mates, UMW exeuctive board members, upon authorization by mine chief John L. Lewis and his executive board.

C. M. Werkau, national strike director of the telephone union, thanked the UMW representatives for the contribution and told them that "through such efforts we will be able to carry our fight through to a successful conclusion."

Growing financial support for the telephone walkout was manifested as government conciliators got ready for a new round of peace parleys on the prolonged communications tieup.

The NFTW national defense fund already contained $56,776 before the contribution from the miners.

Werkau said the defense fund would be used "for a general prosecution of the strike and to care for any hardship cases among our members."

JUDGE RETURNS FINE TO UMW

Goldsborough Signs Order Reducing Penalty In Contempt Action

WASHINGTON, April 24—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today returned to the United Mine Workers the $2,800,000 conditionally remitted in the coal walkout contempt conviction.

The jurist said he now considered that the union had shown "a proper sense of proportion and social responsibility."

The supreme court in affirming conviction of John L. Lewis and the UMW had reduced to $700,000 the original fine of $3,500,000 assessed against the union.

But the remittance was made contingent on the UMW's compliance with a mandate forbidding a walkout.

GOLDSBOROUGH signed the order in his chambers after a brief court session.

The mine workers, in order to secure the return, paid a $35,000 "poundage fee" to the government for holding U. S. bonds pending disposition of the UMW appeal to the supreme court.

Goldsborough said the "basic issues" in the case had not been determined and probably would not be in view of the June 30 expiration of government control of the mines.

The principal issue was whether John L. Lewis, president of the UMW, had a right to terminate the union's agreement with the government under which the mines have been operation since federal seizure last May.

THE JUDGE made no reference today to his sharp criticism of Lewis' actions which charac-

'SOMEONE MADE MISTAKE' ON MEASURE VETO

WASHINGTON, April 24—The White House said today that "someone made a mistake" in connection with President Truman's veto of a bill to give special powers to counsel for the senate war investigating committee.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross stated:

"The matter is being worked on with a view to rectifying the mistake."

Mr. Truman in his veto message declared the bill "might be interpreted as granting authority to the committee counsel to initiate civil or criminal proceedings on behalf of the United States government."

But Sen. Brewster (R) Me., chairman of the committee, which the President once headed, pointed out that identical authorizations had been signed, one by the late President Roosevelt the other by Mr. Truman.

These were in connection with a 1944 petroleum inquiry and in the Pearl Harbor investigation.

Ross, asked who made the "mistake", replied:

"I don't know. I don't think any great harm has been done. It can be remedied."

STALIN HOST TO DELEGATES AT MOSCOW CONFAB

Marshall And Helpers Ready To Leave For Home As Meeting Folds Up

BULLETIN

LONDON, April 24 — Radio Moscow reported that the Big Four conference adjourned tonight at 7:35 p. m. (11:35 a. m. est).

The broadcast said the next session of the foreign ministers will take place in London in November.

MOSCOW, April 24 — The Big Four foreign ministers council will wind up the Moscow conference tonight at a banquet at the kremlin as the guests of Premier Stalin.

The disclosure came today as United States Secretary of State Marshall prepared to leave Moscow by plane tomorrow morning for Washington.

His deputy for Austrian talks, Gen. Mark W. Clark, also has ordered his plane for departure in the morning.

The Big Four's top ranking assistants also will attend the banquet at 8:30.

The kremlin banquet was regarded as the conference's swan song.

American officials said it indicated that no surprises may be expected in the deadlocked proceedings. They predicted that this afternoon's session will be brief and harmonious, with all delegations avoiding any return to acrimonious exchanges.

AMERICAN overseas airlines has been ordered to have three planes in Moscow for the departure of the American delegation and newsmen accredited to the conference.

At least five other American planes will leave tomorrow and Saturday. Besides Marshall's plane to Washington and Clark's to Vienna, a third plane will carry ambassador Robert Murphy back to Berlin.

The French and British prepared to leave on their special trains.

GRECO-TURKISH AID BILL FACES DELAY IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, April 24—The house leadership disclosed today that the Greco-Turkish aid bill may be shelved temporarily as a move developed to delay final action on President Truman's program to combat the spread of Communism.

Majority Leader Halleck (R) Ind., said a vote on the 400-million-dollar measure, which was approved by the senate 68-23, may be postponed for 10 days or two weeks, perhaps longer.

Simultaneously, Rep. Smith (R) Wis., a foreign committee member, revealed that he may offer a motion to recommit the bill.

The move to delay final action on the President's program developed overnight after Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., foriegn affairs committee chairman, said Speaker Martin (R) Mass., had set a tentative schedule calling for passage by the end of next week.

Halleck expressed doubt, however, over whether the bill would be even called up next week for ing company reduces chloride of sage is apparently assured by an overwhelming margin, it is no secret that the leadership has made no attempt to expedite action.

REP. WALTER Tarr (R-Hamilton) chairman of the house taxation committee, said however that his committee probably would bring out the bills next week as a result of the conference.

Herbert stated there was a "general atmosphere of hopefulness."

On schools, the governor said that "I reiterated my position that we ought to stay in the neighborhood of 80 millions a year as a base figure." The Daniels - Crabtree school bill, passed by the senate and now before the house education committee provides for a 90-million base.

However, it was freely predicted that the committee, which concluded public hearings on the measure last night and will now go into executive session on the measure, would whittle ten millions from the total.

RESOLUTIONS introduced in the house yesterday proposed to demand that Henry Wallace return from Europe, to memorialize congress to exempt teachers from income tax, and to establish a legislative committee to investigate justice of the peace courts.

The house passed five bills, including measures to exempt police from personal liability as the result of an auto accident when on duty, except for wilful negligence.

The McClure bill regulating rates for causalty and auto insurance passed, 116-12, while a bill to strengthen regulation of real estate brokers and salesmen passed, 99-22.

Any fire started in a hotel through careless disposal of a cigaret, cigar or pipe ashes would cost the smoker a maximum $250 fine, or 30 days in jail, under terms of the Woodward bill, passed, 121-1. All five bills go to the senate for concurrence.

THE SENATE passed the Winter bill, authorizing cities to collect 10 per cent of the "shelter rent" — rent less payment of utilities — of public housing projects in lieu of taxes.

It also passed unanimously the resolution of Sen. Fred Adams (R-Bowling Green) memorializing congress not to approve the proposed Great Lakes fishing agreement between the United States and Canada.

The Nevius trial was recalled when the senate passed a bill lto provide for the trial of public officials accused of bribery either in the county where the offense was committed or in the county where the official served.

The senate also passed unanimously bills to make the transfer of a school district mandatory when approved by a vote of the people in the district, and to authorize a county auditor to pay bills for repairing fence upon certification of the township trustees.

Bills to fix a ceiling of $25 a month on the pay of members of county soldiers' relief commissions, and to authorize the highway department to transfer a tract of land in Mahoning county for street purposes, were introduced.

CONGRESS TOLD TAXES CAN BE REDUCED NOW

WASHINGTON, April 24 — Former undersecretary of the treasury John W. Hanes told congress today that the treasury surplus will be sufficiently large to provide effective taxpayer relief and to make at the same time substantial reductions in the federal debt.

Hanes, now chairman of the board of trustees of the tax foundation, appeared before the senate finance committee to endorse again the house-approved GOP measure cutting federal income taxes up to 30 per cent.

The former treasury official declared his "whole-hearted support" for the program of cutting spending to the limit as voted by congress, of reducing taxes as proposed by the house measure and of applying to debt reduction the surplus that will result therefrom.

Hanes called for a cut in the high cost of the government which he showed in a chart has risen 371 per cent from 1939 to 1947. According to Hanes' chart other increases during the same period were 70 per cent for manufactured products, 77 per cent for clothing and 93 per cent for food.

BASEBALL COSTS HIGH, SCO LOOP BACKERS LEARN

Some interesting figures on the expenses of operating the South Central Ohio Baseball league were relelased Thursday by Robert Bailey, Washington C. H., secretary of the loop.

Bailey points out that many of the parks have to rely on voluntary contributions to finance the team and without generous support of fans will go "in the hole" during the season.

Some of the interesting items on expenses include: baseballs at $24 per dozen, approximately 80 dozen to be used, $1,920; bats, $3 each, estimated 30 dozen, $1,080; team traveling expenses, $1,680; advertising and publicity, $1,200; umpires, $1,092.

Add to this the cost of paying groundskeepers, ticket sellers, losses through rained out games, uniforms, taxes, and many other incidental items and it is not hard to see that overall costs will approach the $15,000 mark.

Ashville is planning a good team and sponsors will feel like get-better players if Pickaway county fans support the club.

JUDGE RETURNS FINE TO UMW

terized remarks from the bench two weeks ago.

At that time Goldsborough declared the union and Lewis had displayed an "utterly contemptuous attitude" toward the court in ordering a week-long walkout in memory of the Centralia (Ill.) blast victims, and in carrying through the recent safety walkout.

Shortly after Goldsborough announced his decision to return the money the UMW presented a certified check for $700,000 in payment of the contempt fine and received in return $3,500,000 in bonds.

Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett told the court today that the government "interposes no objection to the return of the money."

Sonnett said that while coal production had been "subnormal" since the end of the safety strike on April 14, the justice department found "no real injury to the people of the United States.

ENTIRE CREW OF BRITISH TANKER DIES IN CRASH

LONDON, April 24—The entire crew of the British oil tanker 42-man crew of the British oil tanker Samtampa were swept to their deaths today after the vessel crashed on the rocks at Porthcawl in an 80-mile gale.

Eight men who attempted to row out to the broken steamer pinned on the treacherous rocks at Sker Point were drowned under the eyes of hundreds of fisherfolk on shore when their lifeboat capsized.

The fierce gale drove the British warship Warspite onto the rocks of the west Cornwall coast and fishermen who rescued her crew said she was doomed.

The 32,000 ton veteran of two wars was en route to a shipbreaker's yard when the storm drove her ashore.

When the tide receded at Porthcawl a number of the villagers walked out to the wreck. They found a number of bodies entangled in the wreckage. Other bodies were washed ashore covered with tar oil and badly mutilated from being pounded against the rocks.

The lifeboat attempted twice to reach the stricken 7,000 ton tanker. On the third attempt the rescuers were near the vessel when they caught the full force of the gale.

Deaths and Funerals

MORRIS RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Estella Ritt Morris, 85, of 509 North Court street, who lived her entire life in Pickaway county and died at 6:55 a. m. Wednesday in the Home and Hospital, South Scioto street, will be conducted at 3:30 p. m. Friday at the residence. The Rev. Donald E. Mitchell will officiate. Burial will be in Forest cemetery under direction of the Albaugh funeral home. Friends may call at the home from 7 to 8 p. m. Thursday.

Death followed a two-month illness and was attributed to complications. Mrs. Morris was born Dec. 25, 1861 in Walnut township, the daughter of Benjamin Ritt and Mary Jane McDowell Ritt. She was married Dec. 9, 1884 to George W. Morris, who died Feb. 4, 1918. One son is deceased. Mrs. Morris was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Morris is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles M. Rife, 131 West Union street, and four nieces and two nephews.

JOE HINSON

Funeral will be held at 1 p. m. Friday in his residence at Madeira, Ohio, for Joe Hinson, 73, former Pickaway county resident who died Tuesday.

Born and reared in Pickaway county, Mr. Hinson was the son of Henry and Mary Drumm Hinson. He moved to Madeira several years ago.

Surviving besides the widow are two brothers, Frank Hinson, Walnut township, and Will Hinson, Cleveland; two sisters, Mrs. E. J. Youngman, McClain, Ill., and Miss Lyda Hinson, Columbus.

BRITISH PLAN TO CONTINUE TO HELP IN EUROPE

CINCINNATI, O., April 24 — Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador, declared today that despite Britain's grim economic situation the United Kingdom will make good its commitments in Germany and the countries of western Europe.

The ambassador said it would be a grave mistake to assume from the British withdrawal in Greece "that we are getting rid of all out foreign commitments."

He explained that aid to Greece imposed a heavy burden and "ultimately ... in view of our problems at home and the costs of our other obligations abroad, we could no longer undertake to bolster her up," Inverchapel added:

"We had therefore to explain our situation clearly to your government, and I should like to pay tribute to the breadth and understanding which it has shown in the matter."

The ambassador pointed out, in an address before the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, "we are going shares with you in Germany, and we are continuing to help the countries of western Europe."

RELEASED ON BOND

Brian R. Hambrick, 21, Beckley, W. Va., arrested on a speeding charge at 1:10 a. m. Thursday on North Court street by Patrolman John W. McGinnis, was released under $10 bond for appearance at 8 p. m. Thursday before Mayor Ben H. Gordon. The arresting officer declared Hambrick drove a truck 50 miles an hour.

PETRILLO HIT IN SWEEPING NEW CHARGES

the Communist party had been asked to present evidence. McDowell admitted there was danger, however, that the Communists would name all bankers, soldiers, industrialists and Republicans.

Investigation carried on so far, he said, revealed that Fascism today was "spotty, appearing in some parts of the country and not in others." He said evidence of Fascism had been found in New York, Chicago, Southern California, Texas and Georgia.

He declared that Georgia "breeds this sort of thing for some reason," and named the Columbians as a genuine Fascist group whose danger was limited because it was localized.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE chairman cautioned against indiscriminate use of the Fascist label, particularly by Communists. He said:

"I've come to the conclusion that Fascism both here and abroad feeds on Communism just as Communism feeds on Fascism."

Kearns declared he hoped to be able to make a complete report on the activities of Petrillo and the musicians' union. He said:

"I believe that there should be an accounting to the public of the procedure and activities in the operation of this union under Petrillo's leadership."

LONG SESSIONS FACE SOLONS IN NEXT FEW WEEKS

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—The house of representatives was warned today by majority leader Paul McCormick (R-Logan) to prepare for its first five-day sessions next week.

McCormick issued his statement as the house and senate adjourned until 8 p. m. Monday night. He pointed out that a speedup was necessary if the day of final adjournment were to be advanced.

The house passed unanimously bills removing the present maximum salaries on the Lorain municipal judge and clerk and authorizing the state to sell to Auglaize county for $1,000 land needed for a county highway garage.

Another bill to increase from $500 to $1,000 the value of a contract which may be awarded by public officials without competitive bidding passed, 103 to 3.

A group of Democrats introduced a resolution which would call on congress to make a study of price control "with a view to preventing a runaway inflation cycle." The measure, however, was expected to be buried in the reference committee by the Republican majority Monday night.

The senate also passed three bills by unanimous vote. One would authorize financial institutions to transact business on holidays and outside regular banking hours. Another would repeal 58 more obsolete sections of the general code.

DOCTOR, NURSE HURT IN CRASH ON ROUTE 104

Dr. Z. J. R. Hollenback, Columbus, and Miss Betty Jeanne Breth, Chillicothe, nurse at University hospital, Columbus, narrowly escaped death or serious injury shortly after 9 a. m. Thursday when the auto in which they were riding, driven by Miss Breth, skidded on the wet pavement on State Route 104, one mile north of State Route 762, north of Circleville, struck a concrete post, and turned over several times.

Passing motorists removed the injured physician and nurse to University hospital where it was reported both suffered minor injuries. They had been enroute to Berger hospital in Circleville where Dr. Hollenback was to have performed surgery.

Miss Breth sustained abrasions and Dr. Hollenback suffered bruises. The car was badly damaged and it was removed from the scene by a Columbus wrecker. Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontious investigated the accident.

PARENTS SPURN CHILDREN'S CARE

WITH BOWED HEADS, Mrs. Betty Smith Phillips (left) and her former husband, Melvin David Smith, appear in Los Angeles court to testify they cannot keep their 14-year-old daughter, Shirley (center), or their 11-year-old son, Donald. The children have no place to go since their parents remarried. The mother says she "has no place for them," while the father claims they don't get along with children by his second marriage. (International Soundphoto)

TOKYO RAIDERS GET TOGETHER

Witness Says May Used Check To Open Account

declared that a $1,000 check signed by a soldier and cashed by May was merely a "contribution" to the 1944 Democratic campaign in Kentucky.

The check came to light yesterday at the conspiracy trial of May and officials of the Garsson munitions combine. It was signed by Albert Freeman, a son of Joseph Freeman, Garsson's Washington agent and a co-defendant in the trial.

The government has charged that May used his position as a member of congress and chairman of the house military affairs committee to seek special war department favors for the younger Freeman.

DEFENSE COUNSEL Sawyer Smith said that both the Freeman check and a matching one signed by E. D. Feldman, a California war contractor, were "purely and simply campaign contributions to the Democratic committee and nothing else."

He said they had been made payable to R. V. May, the ex-congressman's son, because R. V. May had been at one time chairman of the Democratic committee in a Kentucky district.

The checks, when cashed, were countersigned by R. V. May and A. J. May and cashed in the office of the house of representatives sergeant : at-arms.

Smith said that Andrew May put both signatures on the check himself because his son was in the service when they came in.

ritual of the seven-weeks long Moscow conference.

The three western powers, however, gave Russia a final chance to avert responsibility for blocking an Austrian settlement.

Official sources revealed that Clark has prepared a statement for delivery by Marshall on the central problem of German assets in Austria in case Russian Foreign Minister Molotov offers to settle on the basis of known Soviet objectives.

Any real Soviet concession is not expected, however, in view of Molotov's repeated warning yesterday that the Soviet position is unchanged.

The American delegation anticipated overtures which may seem new but actually will be a restatement for virtually unlimited control of certain key industries in eastern Austria.

The United States is holding its position in this struggle more firmly than Austria, which is willing to meet the Soviets more than halfway to get rid of occupation troops.

SOARING PRICES BRING PRESSURE FOR CONTROLS

Sen. Morse Blasts Industry And Labor For High Cost Of Living

WASHINGTON, April 24—Sen. Morse (R) Ore., declared today that soaring prices are adding to public pressure for drastic labor controls and called on organized labor to take voluntary steps to increase productivity.

The pro-labor Oregon Republican asked labor to:

1. Get rid of "made-work" programs.
2. Eliminate all restrictions on production.
3. Make it possible for more persons to join unions and thus move into productive jobs in union shops.
4. Increase the number of apprentices in skilled crafts.

Morse blamed both industry and labor for increasing living costs and accused them of "the greatest profiteering in all history."

MEANWHILE, the senate marked time on debate on the "one-package" omnibus labor bill while it disposed of the Gordon R. Clapp nomination to head Tennessee Valley authority, and the deficiency appropriation bill.

Morse prepared for a probably-unsuccessful battle to keep advocates of a "tough" bill from putting back into the measure provisions a GOP-Democratic coalition knocked out in the senate labor committee, declaring that high prices are helping the critics of labor. He said:

"The continuing high living costs are intensifying labor difficulties that will give further support to those in congress who want drastic labor legislation."

MORSE declared that only "voluntary action" can avert further "dislocations" and vigorously denounced both industry and labor.

Morse blamed "feather-bedding" practices of unions, the curtailing of apprentices, and the barring of new workers from industry through the closed shop, along with industrial "profiteering". But he declared that legislation is not the cure.

Morse put the high-cost-of-living problem ahead of the labor controls issue in importance, calling it "the major single domestic problem facing the country."

James Quigley

PHILADELPHIA police have captured William Hallowell, 23-year-old son of a child psychiatrist and a Northwestern university professor, after he shot and killed two Quaker City patrolmen in a stolen auto chase. The slain policemen, Samuel H. Hewitt, 47, and James Quigley, 43, are both fathers of three children. Hallowell, son of Drs. Alfred and Dorothy Kern Hallowell, is in critical condition from six gun wounds received in the chase. (International Soundphoto)

ALLEN DECLINES VICE PRESIDENT POST WITH NBC

NEW YORK, April 24 — Fred Allen, radio comedian, declined today an "honorary" vice-presidency of the National Broadcasting company.

NBS offered the post to Allen in the expectation that he would forgive and forget that he had been "dimmed out" last Sunday when he wanted to make a crack about NBC vice-presidents.

Allen said that he couldn't accept the honorary position "because of the press of other duties" and because of his "health". It was obvious however that Allen was pleased with the attitude of NBC.

The furore started last Sunday when Allen was cut off the air for 25 seconds because he sought to discuss a "vice president in charge of program ends."

Bob Hope and Red Skelton also were "dimmed out" when they started to make cracks about Fred Allen's plight.

WAR MEMORIAL IN OHIO FIRST OF ITS KIND

Governor Accepts Forest For State In Ceremonies Next Sunday

Ohio sets the national pace in official war memorials with the acceptance by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, Sunday, April 27, at 1:30 p. m. of the memorial forest South of Loudonville, from the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, founders.

Focal point of the forest, comprising group and individual plantings to Ohio's war dead, is the shrine standing near the edge of the 3,500 acre tract at the intersection of Routes 3 and 97. This building houses a huge book made of carved walnut containing the names of Ohio's 20,000 war dead, each individually written by Akron members of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. Two additional books contain the names of individual donors and groups.

Eighty-eight trees including maple, oaks, tulips, gumwood, walnut, buckeye, hemlock, and pine will be planted on either side of the shrine representing the state's counties. Funds for the land were appropriated in a previous session of the state legislature and acquisition of land done by the Ohio division of forestry. Plantings are also under the supervision of the forestry division.

THIS NEW war memorial, the first of its type in the country, is located directly across the Mohican state forest where recreational features are available. A 200 acre sanctuary will be set apart around the shrine along the stream, Pine Run.

The memorial book in the Shrine was presented by the Akron and Summit County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. L. L. Kinsey, Akron, is general chairman of the dedication and acceptance ceremony next Sunday. Mrs. Kinsey is also retiring state chairman of conservation activities for the women's group and Mrs. Clarence Goldthrope, Youngstown, state president.

Mrs. Ralph Lindsey, Bryan, who is co-chairman of the forest is sending out certificates containing the names of those contributing and the names of the one honored. These certificates go to the relatives.

Mrs. Lindsey states: "It is a great satisfaction to know that this great living memorial is of the type that the relatives of those who have been taken from us want. I receive many letters from those who have received certificates from friends or groups expressing their thanks and their appreciation for honoring their son or daughter by planting trees. These trees will grow and be constant reminders of those who gave so much for all of us."

STARVING ROMANIA

ROMANIA, especially that part known as Moldavia, bordering the Ukraine, is in the grip of the worst famine known in Europe for 50 years. People died of starvation at the rate of 700 a week in February. More than half the babies born died in infancy. Causes are two years of drought, added to support of Nazi troops during war years and Russian soldiers later. Quantities of grain and live stock have been carried off by Russians as reparations.

Pleas for help went practically unanswered by Russia, which also is suffering from poor harvests in the Ukraine. The United States sent a shipload of goods, got it there early in March in record time. Conditions were first laid down, such as supervision of relief by Americans, before this country would help. What was sent was only a trickle, enough to stave off death for a month.

Romania wants more American help, but there are difficulties in the way. The money offered in payment, it is said, came from loot taken by the Nazis, with whom Romania co-operated, from allied countries. Also, U. S. officials have concluded that much of the American contribution through UNRRA went to bolster communistic governments and weaken democratic tendencies in many European countries. There is no desire to repeat this experience.

Here is a complex situation with the common people of Romania victims, first of nazism, now of communism; and the American democracy, ordinarily sympathetic to a foodless plight, wearying at last of fostering political intrigue by means of food. The problem must be solved—but how? It is not Uncle Sam who is cruel in delaying food. Romania can have it if she will straighten up and guarantee good behavior. But can she? Will she? Does she know how?

JUMPING BEANS, MAYBE?

HENRY WALLACE stirred up a much bigger rumpus than might have been expected. As a result, in the opinion of a great many people, the matter has amounted to just a little more than a hill of beans. Thus, as the Cleveland Plain Dealer observed, "the more he talked, the more he hurt himself." It was a good lesson on the merits of discreet silence.

Some people think labor can do no wrong, and others think capital can do no wrong; and as a matter of fact, they're both wrong. How about Congress?

Next thing, the surgeons will be transplanting brains as regular procedure, with the line forming on the right.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 24 The peculiar thing about the Big Steel agreement for another round of wage increases, 15 cents an hour this time, is that neither side considered the primarily important public point of interest. The initial announcements at least said nothing about a price increase, but rather ominously avoided the subject.

Certain senators noticed this. A new wrinkle seems to have developed in management-union agreements which was not considered in the pending labor legislation. The possibility is now being foreseen that management could make agreements with unions which would break the national economic policy of the government. No adequate provision had been made for this.

The house and senate labor committees had been absorbed in promoting equal rights and opportunity for both sides in their dealing but forgot the third side. Most of the committeemen with whom I talked had assumed management would naturally protect the public against too high wages and the unions would naturally protect the public against too low wages. They did not foresee the possibilities which arose first in the electrical workers settlement with General Motors (neither side mentioned price increases there either) that management might merely pass along increased costs to the public.

What cost wage increases?

U. S. Steel President Fairless says his agreement will increase the labor costs to his company by $75,000,000 a year. The CIO union says the cost will be $42,000,000. Say they are both grinding their axes as usual. The average of their estimates would be an increase of $59,000,000. This is only the beginning of the cost to the public. The electric-GM settlement was supposed to furnish a pattern for the auto industry. The Big Steel agreement is supposed to furnish the pattern for the nation. The ultimate cost to the public of the settlement herefore could be billions.

The strategy of Big Steel, I am told by certain insiders, is that the settlement is apt to be sufficiently unpopular to push the pending union reform legislation through congress. As a matter of fact, however, the legislation is well on its way to final enactment within a few weeks by majorities which assure its success over an expected presidential veto. Of the union strategy in the settlement, I am not so sure. Steel is the chief ingredient in the manufacture of automobiles. If the steel price goes up and the union labor costs of the auto go up together, the effect upon the price of automobiles could be tremendous. Last year the workers in both industries got an 18½ cents an hour increase and the price of cars went up, I believe, about $75 each, according to announcements, although the price increase may have been more. At any rate the pattern settlement last year caused a general national increase of prices—the very condition upon which the unions are getting this new price increase.

What cost wage increases? the answer is: illimitable.

Chronic Sinusitis Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WORRY is a bad habit and one which more and more doctors are coming to regard as a real health hazard.

I have told you in earlier articles of the part worry is thought to play in causing stomach ulcers and now, Dr. Leland G. Hunnicutt of Pasadena, lists it along with other bad habits such as excessive smoking, abuse of alcoholic beverages, overeating and late hours, as a possible cause of chronic sinusitis. Any of these things may bring about congestion in the nose with a lowering of resistance and infection of the sinuses.

Other things which may bring about changes in the lining membrane of the nose and dispose toward sinus infection are lack of vitamins and minerals, as well as certain glandular disturbances.

Physical Examination

Therefore Dr. Hunnicutt believes that the first step in treating the person with chronic sinusitis is a careful physical examination to see if any such factors are contributing to his condition.

In treating the infection itself care must be taken not to injure the tissues of the nose. In the normal nose there is a covering of mucus over the lining membrane. This is gradually pushed toward the opening of the nose by the action of hair-like structures called cilia.

In planning the treatment of chronic sinus infection, nothing must be done which will interfere with the normal cleansing action of the cilia. For example, medicines used must contain no irritating chemicals, nor should they be either too acid or too alkaline as this also may interfere with the ciliary action.

Symptoms of Infection

The symptoms of chronic sinus infection consist of a continued nasal discharge, sometimes headache, perhaps occasional slight fever and pain in the face. In order to make a definite diagnosis an X-ray examination is of help.

Dr. Hunnicutt says that before the examination of the nose is made the patient should go for a period of about four days without using any medicine in the nose and without blowing the nose. At the end of this time the lining membrane of the nose will have returned to normal in so far as is possible, and the doctor is better able to tell exactly what conditions are present.

In children, surgical treatment of chronic sinus infection is usually not employed. Rather, infected material may be sucked out with a suction pump and the nose washed gently with solutions of salt and soda. In adults, surgical treatment, such as straightening the nasal septum, may be employed to increase the drainage from the nose, to increase the air space and to get rid of damaged or diseased tissue. The use in the nose of sulfonamide drugs and penicillin as a rule is not of much value for chronic infections but helpful in the acute ones.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, April 24

A PARTICULARLY lively and probably exciting state of affairs incident to a sudden, abrupt and dramatic turn of eventc, reaching deep at the root of plans and objectives is forecast. Fresh approach to new conditions should be soberly worked out, not only with ingenuity and skill but with an element of the novel, original and basic, in which the culmination may be possibly, far in the future. Final issues depend upon current aims.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of the sudden and unforeseen, with much adventure, change and innovation, the ultimate culmination of such efforts reaching far into the future. Serious thought and preparation should be given to plans and projects now, to come up for later decision, and having their roots in distant time and probably place. Travel, change, romance, are involved and demand practical rather than emotional or impulsive urges, for happy results.

A child born on this day may have many vital decisions to make in connection with sudden and disruptive turns in the affairs and conditions of a vivid career.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

SHERRY HAD braced herself to face this last weekend at the farm. For many reasons it wouldn't be easy. It meant saying goodby to Steve and Aunt Pen, seeing for the last time, perhaps, the old house she loved so much. Even in her thoughts she shied away from the knowledge that she wouldn't be seeing Lex again for months or years at least, maybe forever. And forever is a long and lonely time, so Sherry tried to shut her eyes against it. In the end she made it easier for herself by putting aside the disturbing thought of the future, by living each hour of the day and a half she and Leda stayed at Ridge Farm as though there were no time beyond it. And so the hours passed almost painlessly. Almost.

On Saturday night Lex went in to Chicago as usual to see Kay and the period of his absence was easier somehow. Leda was merry and charming, as she was so adept at being. She was full of talk of New York and of her new job and its possibilities. She had managed to reconcile herself to her separation from Sherry better than had seemed possible at first. This was due in large measure to the fact that she had convinced herself Sherry would grow tired of her dull little job in a strange little town in very short order. She had confided as much to Steve and, while he didn't agree with her, he had been glad that her self-deception made her feel happier about the situation. Once she was in the east, busy with her new job, she wouldn't have much time for missing Sherry, anyway. She would adjust herself—Leda was very adaptable, particularly since the new life she was embarking upon would be entirely to her liking. Her work, Steve supposed, must always come first with her. And if, as she grew older, she ever realized that she had lost more than she had gained by the bright material success which had always been her goal, it would be too late then to do anything about it. But it was too late even now, so Leda would have to cope with the loneliness that lay ahead of her as best she could.

Sherry sat rather silently on the rug before the fireplace, her bright head leaning now and then against Aunt Pen's knee. There was a small grate fire, since the evening was chill, and its radiance flickered across the room, picking out the gleam of bronze horses in the cabinets, the luster of old bric-a-brac.

It was Leda who told Steve and Pen the news about Val.

"Next January, the doctor says. And Wade is simply beside himself, he's so pleased. I'm glad, too. I think a child will be good for Val—even if it will make me a grandmother."

"A very young and lovely one, though," Steve said gallantly.

And Aunt Pen smiled with pleasure. "Good for her. I didn't think Val was that sensible. I'll knit it a whole outfit, sweater, leggings, little cap—"

Sherry sat there, her eyes on the blazing logs, thinking. Wondering about Val. Was she sensible, as Aunt Pen said? Or had she merely decided, since Wade had been generous and understanding about her affair with Kevin Blake and the near-tragedy that climaxed it, that she could be generous, too, and give him the child he wanted so badly? Even if that was it, the gesture might bear rich rewards for Val. She had seemed different the last few times Sherry had seen her. She had come home from her trip with Wade a little more mature, less youthfully self-centered. And already, months before their child would be born, their marriage seemed to have acquired a new depth and stability.

Maybe Val had been wiser than they knew when she married Wade Carrington. Maybe they could find happiness together. Had her affair with Kevin been a final looking back, a striving to find once more something lovely and young—but dead now and better forgotten? Sherry hoped it was like that. Thinking of the warm glow in Val's eyes when she spoke of the baby, the generous curve of her mouth as she thanked Wade for one of his innumerable small attentions, Sherry felt almost convinced.

And thinking of Val, Sherry felt more hopeful for her own future. Val had loved and lost and had fought and blundered her way through to a measure of happiness and contentment. Maybe you had to compromise with life, to turn your back on the love that might not be, to take a second choice.

But her heart cried out, I'll never love anyone but Lex.

Still, she had the sense to go away and try to make some sort of life for herself. That was certainly better than brooding. Friends and work—they were supposed to help, weren't they? Well, she would work hard. And she would try to make new friends. And some day, when she had grown older and wiser, the pain of forgetting might lessen somewhat.

On Sunday Sherry rode horseback with Lex over the familiar winding roads they had taken so many times before. She urged her horse on, her hair whipping in the wind, the ends of her scarlet kerchief flapping. She tried to shut the door of her mind against the words that pushed upon it. Last time. Last time.

After a while they left their horses grazing, tied to a maple sapling, and walked through a small wood to the bank of a stream. Not far beyond the spot where they dropped down onto the springy green sod, a crude, weathered little bridge spanned the water.

Sherry said, pointing toward it, "My father built that bridge long ago, before I was born."

Lex looked toward it for a moment in silence. Then he said, "There's a sort of immortality in a thing like that. It's like a monument to the man who built it. Only it's even better than the usual monument, because it serves a purpose and that gives it meaning and importance."

Sherry nodded. "I never thought of it like that, but it's true."

"Or take a house," Lex carried the idea further, "like Steve's house, that his grandfather built. Don't you believe some part of old Fabian Jeffrey survives in those very walls and in the trees he planted and the fields he tilled, all the works of his hands and brain?"

Sherry had felt that, although she had never tried before to put it into words. "It's—a sort of linking of the past and the future, like a chain. Ridge Farm should be handed on to children of Steve's. It seems such a pity it won't be."

They sat there, side by side, their eyes dreaming on space, the little stream flowing gently before them. Idly Lex picked up a stone and tossed it into the water. The ripples widened and were gone. Sherry's glance rested on his hands as he clasped them again around his knee. His hands were different now than when she had first met him. Harder, calloused, more weathered looking. Like Steve's hands, Sherry thought, or perhaps just like all farmers' hands. It was a good look of strength and capability, tempered with gentleness.

Her eyes lifted and met Lex's glance. She asked, "It's still exactly what you want, isn't it, Lex? All this—the woods and the fields and the quietness and peace?"

He said, "It's what I'll always want. I'm more sure every day. And when they're your own fields you plow and seed, as I've already begun to do—that's a good thing, Sherry. A fine thing. It fills some need that's so old and so deeply implanted it's gone down into man's blood and become a part of him. At least, that's how it is with me."

Sherry smoothed the young green grass with sensitive finger tips. "It's a good thing, too, to know what you want and to go after it, as you did, Lex. That's partly what gave me the courage to break free. You told me once—remember?—not to drift too long, that drifting could get to be a habit."

Lex nodded. He had said that the night they stood on the bridge, the night he had kissed her. Did Sherry remember that, too? A thickness came up in Lex's throat at the thought. It was shame, of course, because he had had no right to kiss her and she had been so swell about it. He brought his thoughts back to what Sherry was saying with an effort.

2. What French monarch was the lover of Mme. DuBarry?
3. Beatrice and who were lovers?

Words of Wisdom

If there is any person to whom you feel dislike, that is the person of whom you ought never to speak.—Cecil.

Hints on Etiquette

If a friend gives you a letter of introduction and for some reason you do not use it, you should make some explanation to the friend who wrote the letter for you.

Today's Horoscope

You read a great deal, retain and absorb the knowledge gleaned from it to use in your conversation. You seek the society of others who are well read and cultured and scorn superficial study. You like personal attention, but dislike flattery. The day's influences are not too good, so it would be better to leave well enough alone. Your next year will also be one of ups and downs, it is portended. Endeavor to restrain erratic conduct. Make changes only after careful reflection. Watch health. Some success and happiness will come your way. Elders both help and hinder. A complex character will be possessed by the child who is born today. He or she will be very forward and mercurial, also clever, witty, sarcastic, but good-natured, far-seeing and moderately successful.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THRIVE ON ADVERSITY

ONLY THE game fish swims upstream, they say, and only the fine bridge player seems to thrive on adversity. When the most harmful lead possible is made by the defense, a burden is sometimes put on him which nobody else in the same tournament has to carry. He may then he compelled to work out an intricate play in order to get the same result which his rivals at other tables obtain without the slightest real effort.

South was Walter Beinecke, chairman of New York's Inter-Club league, who was using the "Whist Club club" system, whereby 1-Club shows either an ace-king and an ace or three aces, a response of 1-No Trump shows two aces and of any suit except diamonds discloses the ace-king of the suit, an answer of 1-Diamond denying any of those. Thus he knew all about North's two aces on the first round—which a Blackwood conventioneer would learn later.

Other pairs in the tournament reached 7-Clubs, making the contract easily because two diamonds got ruffed in dummy. But West led a club against Mr. Beinecke, so he could ruff only one. He scored the club A and diamond A, ruffed the diamond 3, discarded a diamond and a heart on two top spades, led the spade 10 and over-ruffed East's club 10 with the J, then ran clubs.

With West marked for the spades and East probably the diamonds, neither could protect hearts when the double squeeze was built. As the eleventh trick brought the last club lead, Mr. Beinecke had the heart 6 and diamond 8, and dummy the heart A-J and spade 9. West dared not discard his spade, so threw the heart 9. The spade was discarded from dummy, and East now had an impossible assignment. If he tossed the diamond J, the 8 would be good, so he discarded his heart 5. Then the heart 6 to the A dropped both hostile honors, making the J good for the final trick.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a fine Springmorning. Out for a look around and found all well. Lawn really too well. How that grass does grow since it has had a taste of manual mower instead of the tractor affair. And how my waist line is going down. Inside for coffee and soon away for the ville.

Too bad that we can not see our community through the eyes of visitors. Chatted with Claude W. Upp here from Illinois for the first visit in about 10 years. He greatly impressed and practically flared when someone suggested that the town had not changed since his last visit. He had seen the new homes, the larger and neater stores, the improved farms, the much larger industry. He is a son-in-law of J. B. Majors. Almost everyone remembers "Daddy."

One thing the visitor did not hear and that was much talk about the election which is only a pair of weeks away. Either there is no interest or the voters already have decided their side of the fence. Only discussion is about the school bond issue. And that largely favorable as it should be. Costly, yes, but necessary. Our school system has been off on the wrong road too long already and the sooner we recognize the fact the less the bill to the taxpayers. We are now forced to do in a time of extremely high prices what we should have done years ago at low level cost. The longer we delay the higher the cost will be.

Chatted with Charlie Gilmore who was born and reared within sight of the statue of Liberty and who never was on the island until his son was 11 years old and insisted on going there. Listened with understanding as Jim Yost complained of the high price level of merchandise and voiced hope that a downward trend is not far away. Pointed to a step ladder that sells at a dollar a foot. Said that the profit margin was larger and more ladders sold when the item was marked at a quarter a foot. Don't ever think that the merchants do not protest high prices as much as their customers. They all are worried and wondering what the future holds.

There goes Guy Pettit smiling in the sunshine and his mind on a week-end at his Buckeye lake cottage. Says some crappies being caught, but little else. Bluegills, cats and bass still reluctant.

Dropped in at City Hall and with Chief Buggs did view the result of work of a would-be escapist. What a mess is that jail! No reflection on the police, but certainly on officials tolerating it. You wouldn't house a good horse or dog there. Damp, foul smelling, no beds — just wooden benches with no mats or covers. Anyone is justified in trying to break out. Why not drop in and look it over sometime. It is your property and you have every right to inspect it. And the odds are at least 100 to 1 that you will be both shocked and angry.

Home in the late afternoon and into the basement for a delayed general cleaning. Got through after a fashion, but wondering whatever has become of my stamina. Lolled around the rest of the evening and then at an unusually early hour did raid the ice box and turn toward bed where sleep came with no delay whatever.

Atlanta PTA Plans Basket Picnic For Last Day Of School

Large crowd was in attendance for the Atlanta parent teachers association at their regular session held Tuesday evening, in the school auditorium.

James Leslie, president, conducted the meeting and welcomed guests from nearby communities. Prayer was offered by Donald Kempton. Reports were submitted by Mrs. Wendell Tarbill, secretary, and Mrs. Vernon Huffman, treasurer.

W. E. Hobble, superintendent, made the following announcements, baccalaureate will be held in the local church, May 11; commencement, May 16; Senior class play, "Pigtails", May 2; and eighth grade commencement, May 20.

Association members voted in favor of having a school basket picnic on the last day of school. President named the following committees members to arrange for the picnic, Mrs. George Betts, Mrs. Earl Armentrout, Mrs. Homer Long and Mrs. Ed Gerhardt.

Mrs. Nellie Creighton, chairman of nominating committee, read the list of unanimously elected officers to serve for the next term. They are, Mrs. Harvey Patterson, president, Leonard Brigner, vice-president, Mrs. Donald Kempton, secretary and Mrs. Richard Orr, treasurer.

Mrs. Wendell Evans, chairman of the calendar committee, reported that the calendars had been completed, and read the list of program and social committees to serve in September.

PTA members voted to purchase a new refrigerator to be used in the lunch room, and installed later.

Mr. Hobble and his committee members presented the program. Leola Brigner accompanied by Anne Betts at the piano, sang two numbers. "School Problems" were discussed by R. M. Eyman, assistant director of education. Moving pictures, "Water Rustlers" was shown at the conclusion of the program.

Mrs. Wendell Tarbill, Mrs. Leonard Brigner, Mrs. Everette Hoskins, Mrs. Pearl Ater, Mrs. George Betts, Mrs. Hoyt Martin, Mrs. Charles Garrison, Mrs. Paul Peck and Mrs. James Leslie, social committee members served refreshments during the social hours.

BPW TO MEET

Business and Professional Women's club members will gather Thursday at 7:30 in their club room at Masonic Temple for a short business meeting followed by a musical program.

Star Grange Hears Nutrition Program

Star grange members met in regular session Tuesday evening with Francis Furniss, president, in the chair.

At the business session the group voted to contribute $5 to the American cancer control campaign. A wedding gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Liston.

Mrs. Ida Ware, home economics instructor, of Williamsport high school, judged the eight entries in the molasses cookie contest. Gift prizes were awarded to Mrs. Albert Dennis, Mrs. Lyle Davis, and Mrs. Herman Porter. Mrs. C. E. Dick, chairman of the home economics committee, gave Mrs. Ware a gift of appreciation.

Mrs. Dick presented a nutrition program. Various articles on malnutrition and vitamins, were read by Mrs. Lloyd Neff, Mrs. Earl Liston, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. William Snyder, Mrs. Harry Bailey and Mrs. Dick.

Warner Neff auctioned off the cookies, with the proceeds of the sale being added to the collection for the silver tea, the project of the home economics committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Furniss, Miss Laura Long and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dennis served on the committee for the silver tea. Mrs. Furniss and Miss Long presided at the attractively decorated tea table, which was centered with a bouquet of daffodils and ferns, flanked by candles.

Next meeting will be May 13. At this time the men will be in charge of a mother's day banquet. During the evening the ladies will have a flower seed exchange.

GUEST NIGHT OBSERVED BY PAPYRUS CLUB

Guest night was observed by the Papyrus club Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Emmerson Downing, East Main street.

Miss Nell Weldon, president, welcomed the guests and presided during the meeting. Mrs. A. Hulse Hayes read the secretary's report. Miss Weldon then turned the meeting over to Mrs. W. W. Robinson, chairman of program committee. She presented the hostess, who read an original story written for children called, "Mr. Pinkey and Bixley Button".

Mrs. A. C. Turner read three of her original poems, "Tree Tops", "Masterpiece" and "How I Know". Mrs. Richard Jones presented her interpretation of a Spring flower in a story of "The Queen's Favorite". Mrs. E. O. Crites read one of her sequels to "Uncle Sandy", concerning the return of an old couple from a neighbors' auction sale, with all the humor and pathos encountered in their purchases.

TIMELY and most appropriate original poem, "Two Peace Ambassadors" was read by the author Mrs. George Fickardt. Mrs. Robinson spoke to the group on the self expression and satisfaction derived from being able to create poetry and urged more persons to be interested in the art of writing poetry. She read her original poems entitled, "Bloom", "To an Antique Desk", "Searching Wind" and "Child's Evening Thought'.

Mrs. M. B. Kellstadt read her original story, "And With the Angels Sing", vividly portraying the Negro servant doing the family dishes—assisted by the youthful white mistresses of the home. The harmonica playing lover Ben aided by 'Grandpa' brought the story of near tragedy in love and jealousy to a happy conclusion, through an epic of emotions of the servant for her Ben.

MISS WELDON read a letter from Mrs. Eleanor Groce Smith, who is associated with the Miami Herald in Miami, Florida. In her letter she said, "in her duties of reviewing the current books—both fiction and non-fiction the book, 'Bookman's Pleasure', compiled by Holbrook Johnson, contained excerpts of many of the world's most famous authors and would be of great interest to the Papyrus club members". Her letter accompanied the book as a gift to Miss Weldon.

Club members present were Miss Weldon, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Fickardt, Mrs. Crites, Miss Margaret Rooney, Mrs. Kellstadt, Mrs. Charles T. Gilmore, and the hostess.

Guests for the open meeting included, Mrs. Blanche Motschman, Mrs. R. H. Henry, Mrs. Donald Mitchell, Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, Mrs. Ingram Rush, Mrs. R. H. Gillan, Mrs. Enid Denham, and those from the Kingston community were, Mrs. Harvey Berry, Mrs. Fred Long, Mrs. Adrian McVery, Miss Ruth McKenzie and Mrs. Harry Reigel.

Old Timers Of SCO On Air Friday

"Old Timers" in baseball, now active in the South Central Ohio baseball league, will be interviewed by Jay Wagner, WCOL sports commentator on his sportscast at 6 p. m. Friday.

Selected for the broadcast are R. J. "Barney" Taggart, league commissioner; Frank Doyle, manager of Greenfield Athletics; Arthur Thomas, manager of Lancaster Anchor-Hocking team; Allen Lindsay, league president, and Claude D. Kraft, league vice president.

Taggart, long a popular figure in Ohio semi-pro circles, formerly played outfield with the Pittsburgh Pirates. As manager of the Chillicothe "Mead" club, he won the 1946 SCO pennant.

Doyle played all around the South during his 37 years in pro and semi-pro career. At 64 years of age he still radiates the same enthusiasm that made him one of the best infielders in the game.

Arthur Thomas, Anchor Hocking mentor, led his team to victory in the Central Ohio league playoff in 1946. He played semi-pro for 22 years, mostly in and around southeastern Ohio.

Lindsay and Kraft have each seen many years of baseball activity. With an over-abundance of energy and enthusiasm credited to each, they have added greatly to the inspiration responsible for what is perhaps the best organized league in the state.

The WCOL interview is a forerunner of weekly newscasts covering the league and game results, according to Robert Bailey, secretary of the league.

FEMALE half of the thrilling Betty and Benny Fox show was scheduled to arrive in Circleville Thursday evening. She will join partner Benny, who has been here for several days, in making final preparations for their death-defying "Sky Dance" on a high pole above the G. C. Murphy company store Thursday, May 1 at 10 a. m., 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. The Daily Herald is sponsoring this free show in Circleville.

DISTRICT COURT STUDIES APPEAL OF ORIN DILTZ

Decision on the appeal of Orin Diltz, 24, convicted of grand larceny in the looting of the parked auto of Vaden Couch in Circleville was under consideration Thursday, by the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

The three appellate jurists took the appeal under advisement after listening to the arguments of opposing counsel at a hearing held Wednesday afternoon in the Pickaway county common pleas courtroom in Circleville. They are Judge Roy J. Gillen of Wellston, Judge Russell K. McCurdy of Portsmouth, and Judge Verner E. Metcalf of Marietta.

Diltz is now in the Ohio Penitentiary serving a sentence of one to seven years imposed by Judge William D. Radcliff after a jury last Feb. 5 found Diltz guilty. Diltz and George Clifton, 23, were also jointly indicted on a charge of having committed the $1,300 burglary of the American Legion club in Circleville last Nov. 9 but the trial date remains unset.

REDS DEPENDING ON VETERANS; ROOKIES FAIL

ST. LOUIS, April 24 — It became apparent today that whatever chances Cincinnati's Reds have of escaping the National League cellar are carried on the accustomed backs of their veteran hurlers.

The Chicago Cubs made merry, 7 to 1, yesterday at the expense of rookie Eddie Erautt. It was the second disappointing mound chore in three attempts by the former Pacific Coast strikeout king.

The lanky youngster has been charged with three losses, although he hurled well in his first start against the Cardinals.

Everet Lively, another rookie counted upon heavily by Manager Johnny Neun, has fared even worse. He has twice failed to survive the first inning.

In fact, only Kent Peterson has held up his end among the recruits. Peterson had hurled only one inning of organized balll before this year, that back in 1944 before a hitch of military service.

Neun called on his erstwhile belwether Bucky Walters at St. Louis today in an important test of the veteran's condition. Should Walters, Johnny Vander Meer and Elmer Riddle join Ewell Blackwell and Joe Beggs on the firing line, the Reds would once again have a formidable pitching crew.

Riddle, out for two years with arm trouble, has done well in two relief roles. The aging Walters' test today will be his first. Vander Meer has a stiff arm and won't be called upon until the Reds encounter warmer weather.

Like a look at your Future — RIGHT NOW?

JUST pause a moment on any corner of the smartest street in town.

Wait till you see this gleaming grille bearing down on you — these long fender lines sweeping past — this trim rear bumper flashing its farewell.

That's not just the new '47 Buick you're seeing, but the tip-off on tomorrow as far as car styling is concerned.

Here's the long, low, sweeping look designers even now are striving to equal.

Here's the broad beam that tells of plenty-room, the proud bearing that spells power and ability and steady road-wise going.

We're not saying you'll match this flashing action elsewhere — Buick's frugal Fireball combustion principle and Accurite cylinder finish give us pretty much of a corner on that.

And not everywhere will you find the fluid stride, the ever-easy comfort of soft, BuiCoil springing on all four wheels. Only Buick, after all, can be all a Buick is.

But here's the way the smartest cars will dress themselves — for a long while to come. Here's a high-styled high stepper that will keep you among the first-in-fashion for years and years.

That being so — why hesitate? There's no smarter step you can take to make your dollar count and cut your waiting to the minimum — than to get your order in now.

YANKEES BEAT FERRISS, TAKE AMERICAN LEAD

Cubs Retain Top National Spot By Trouncing Erautt And Reds

NEW YORK, April 24—Agreement seems pretty general that Joseph Paul Di Maggio has been the difference to the Yankees between probably failure and current success; that, without him, they wouldn't be occupying the American League top roost, as they are today. But that isn't the half of it.

For without Di Maggio, they might also be without Allie Reynolds, who yesterday pitched the club into the league lead with his second shutout in two starts this year, a two-hit, 3-0 win over the champion Red Sox.

Told the Yanks had an open choice of Cleveland pitchers, including Reynolds, Embree, Steve Gromek—anybody but Feller — Di Mag unhesitatingly said Reynolds. And Reynolds it was.

After shutting out the senators, 7-0, in his first start, Allie had a no-hitter going into the seventh inning yesterday but Rudy York spoiled it with a double. Rudy also got the other Sox hit, a single in the ninth. The Yanks made everything count, notably Aaron Robinson's single and homer, in beating Dave Derriss for the first time since 1945.

In climbing to the leadership, they displaced the Chicago White Sox, who suffered their first defeat of the embryo campaign. It was a 7-4 beating by the Tigers who blasted 10 hits for 18 extra bases against Ed Lopat and Gordon Maltzberger.

* * *

THEY SAID the departure of Hank Greenberg would mean a vital loss of power to the Tigers, but you couldn't prove it by yesterday's eighth inning. Roy Cullenbine, Dick Wakefield and "Hoot" Evers hit successive homers, all told, with Cullenbine hitting two.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, continued on their merry way at the head of the National League procession by belting the world's champion Cardinals into an 8-5 defeat.

The payoff was Bill Cox's grand-slam homer during the five-run second inning, with George Munger the victim.

THE BROOKLYNS hung on to the second rung by making it two in a row over the Phillies, 5-2—largely the result of a three-run opening inning in which the only hit was Pete Reiser's double. It was a ball that got away from Del Ennis in the wind. Oscar Judd's three walks and an infield error did the rest.

The Cubs and Braves won to pull into a third place tie with the Phils at .500. The Cubs took rookie Ed Erautt apart to win from the Reds, 7-1.

MEANWHILE, the Giants got 12 hits and only one run in losing, 5-1 to the Braves — thanks to Warren Spahn's niggradly pitching with men on.

In the other league, the Red Sox second straight loss to the Yanks dropped the former into a third-place tie with the Indians, who battered Denny Galehouse and Ellis Kinder for 18 hits in winning from the Browns, 10-4.

COLONELS BEAT BIRDS 3-1; HENS TROUNCE TRIBE

By International News Service

The American Association's two remaining undefeated teams were slated to clash in Minneapolis today, weather permitting, when the Millers played host to Kansas City.

That phrase, "weather permitting," was the joker, however. Minneapolis, along with its twin city rival, St. Paul, was rained out yesterday for the second straight day. Both the Millers and Saints are still trying vainly to work their home openers in between showers.

The Saints were to entertain Milwaukee today.

Kansas City currently leads the Association pack with three straight victories. Minneapolis has been able to play only one game all season. The Millers won that one.

In two games played last night, the Toledo Mud Hens turned on the heat to swamp Indianapolis, 13 to 7. The Hens scored nine runs in the last two innings.

Louisville whipped Columbus, 3 to 1, as 18-year-old Maury McDermott spun a six-hitter. The Colonels collected 11 safeties off Pete Mazar and Alex Patterson.

Columbus plays at Indianapolis tonight and Toledo at Louisville.

BROWNS SIGN TWO

CLEVELAND, April 24—Harold "Moon" Mullins, a tackle from Duke, and Leo Less, a guard from Miami of Ohio, were under contract today to play for the champion Cleveland Browns of the All-America football conference.

ASHVILLE REDS SET FOR SUNDAY OPENING GAME

Special Ceremonies To Mark First SCO Game Of 1947 Season

Judge William D. Radcliff will pitch the first ball in the opening baseball game Sunday at Ashville. His receiver will be Dr. G. E. Peters, who was one of the best baseball players ever to represent Ashville. Guy G. Cline, president of the Ashville Community Club, will be honorary umpire.

A public address system is to be used at the South Central Ohio league opener with Grove City. A radio commentator and representatives from several newspapers are scheduled to be present for the game which starts a new SCO season.

MANAGER Carl Gulick plans to put an experienced team on the field. His starting pitcher will not be announced until game time. Either Leonard Hornsby, a left hander with plenty of stuff, or Bill Black, a righthander who is in excellent condition for early season, will get the starting nod. Russ Gregg, handicapped by illness, will not be in condition for Sunday's game.

Tentative starting lineup for the first game is: Robert Tracy, cf; Carl Gulick, ss; "Snapper" Ankrom, 3b; Wally Noon, 2b; Bob Harper, lf; Jay Gregg, 1b; Harold Gulick, c; Tom Creiglow or Benny Sawyer, rf.

ALL INDICATIONS are that the South Central Ohio league will be much stronger than last year. The newcomers to the league, Lancaster Anchor Hocking and Grove City, add two powerful clubs. All teams have been strengthened including Ashville which is expected to surprise a few teams during the season.

Pickaway county is fortunate to have a representative in this league. Baseball followers are of the opinion that the South Centrall Ohio is one of the best organized leagues in the state of Ohio. Improved brand of baseball will be played in this community and fans will receive many thril's this season.

It has been predicted that the winner of this league will not win more than 15 games. Also that there will not be more than five games between the winner and last place team at the season's close.

IKE WILLIAMS, WILLIE RUSSELL SET FOR FIGHT

COLUMBUS, O., April 24 — N.B.A. world lightweight champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., and Columbus' Willie Russell marked time today as they awaited their ten-round fight tomorrow night in the state fairgrounds coliseum.

Only verbal punches were tossed by the two principals in the Ohio capital's first big ring battle in many years.

Williams boasted that he intended to dispose of Russell "in a hurry" and Willie countered with a statement that the champ was "just another fighter" to him.

Both weighed 138 pounds after their final strenuous workouts yesterday. They expect to scale 137 at weighing in time tomorrow.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not barring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; makeshift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming . . . if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

MARSHALL SAID GETTING READY REPORT TO U. S.

State Secretary Expected To Address Public On Big 4 Conference

WASHINGTON, April 24—Secretary of State George C. Marshall was reported today to be planning an address to the American people on his return from the apparently fruitless conference of "Big Four" foreign ministers in Moscow.

Marshall was expected home over the weekend, with the conference scheduled to end today.

Marshall's return will be his first as top diplomatic man at an international conference. He has attended many high-level military meetings during the war but, as secretary of state, this was his first. Moreover, the meeting was regarded as far more important than those which produced the treaties for the Nazi-satellite states — Hungary, Romania, and Bulgaria — and Italy and Finland.

OFFICIALS were uncertain as to what method Marshall would use to convey his report on the Moscow conference to the American people. He might simply issue a formal statement, make a radio address or speak before a joint session of congress.

Of the three methods, the latter was believed most likely. By so doing he would emphasize the prestige he attaches to congress' role in international affairs. He also would use to advantage the high esteem in which he is generally held on capitol hill.

The report which Marshall will make was not expected to be optimistic.

On departing for Moscow he made clear that the most he hoped for was a general agreement on fundamental principles for the drafting of the peace treaty for Germany. The conferees have made little progress along these lines.

SUCH FUNDAMENTAL questions as Russia's demands for reparations out of current production and Germany's future boundaries appeared as far from agreement as before. Little progress was made on the future form of Germany's government.

Marshall appeared to have met with a complete rebuff by the Soviet Union on his proposal for a four-power pact for the future control of Germany. This break was considered by many as even more fundamental than many other divergencies between the East and the West.

Failure to achieve agreement on the Austrian treaty also was considered a rebuff to American foreign policy. Drafting of a peace treaty for this gateway to the Balkans was regarded by Marshall before he left as a minimum of what could be hoped for at Moscow.

Added up, the results of the Moscow conference, as Marshall is expected to describe them, are likely to rally further support for President Truman's policy of halting forceful Communist domination of borderline states.

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF ADVISING WIFE TO LEAVE

DAYTON, O., April 24—A hundred thousand dollar suit against a Lebanon doctor for alienation of affections was on file today in Montgomery county common pleas court, Dayton.

Floyd W. Smith, also of Lebanon, alleged that Dr. Robert M. Blair last August advised his wife, Vivien, "to live separate and apart and terminate their marriage" if she wanted to restore her health. Mrs. Smith had consulted the doctor about a "nervous and irritable" condition.

Dr. Blair married Smith's former wife last month after she obtained a divorce in October.

Without Painful Backache

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"DOUBLE-QUICK" NEW METHOD CARNIVAL MARBLE CAKE

Carnival Marble Cake

MADE BY BETTY CROCKER

"Double-Quick" NEW METHOD

Cuts your mixing time ½; No creaming . . . no egg beating

○ Have all ingredients room temperature (70° to 75°). (Shortening should be soft, not melted.) Preheat oven to 350° (moderate). Grease generously and dust with flour 2 round layer pans, 9-in. diameter, 1½ in. deep, or 1 oblong pan, 9 x 13 x 2 in., or 1 square pan, 9 x 9 x 2 in. Sift GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour before measuring. Measure all ingredients accurately (level) before starting to mix.

○ Sift together into bowl . . . { 2⅛ cups (2 cups plus 2 tbsp.) sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour; *1½ cups sugar; 3½ tsp. double-action baking powder; 1 tsp. salt

Add . . . . . { ½ cup high grade vegetable shortening; 1 cup milk; 1 tsp. flavoring

Beat vigorously with spoon for 2 minutes by clock (about 150 strokes per minute). You may rest a moment when beating by hand; just count actual beating time or strokes. Or mix with electric mixer on slow to medium speed for 2 minutes. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl frequently.

○ Add . . . . . { ½ to ⅔ cup unbeaten egg whites (4 large)

Continue beating 2 more minutes, scraping bowl frequently. Pour about ⅔ of batter into prepared pan or pans.

To remaining batter add . . . { 1 sq. unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.), melted, mixed with ¼ tsp. soda; 2 tbsp. warm water; ¼ tsp. red food coloring, if desired

Mix until well blended (about ½ minute). Pour chocolate batter here and there over white batter. Cut through batter several times with knife for marbled effect.

○ Bake layers 25 to 30 minutes; oblong cake 35 to 40 minutes; square cake 50 to 55 minutes in moderate oven (350°). (Square cakes often "crack.") Delicious uniced... warm from the oven ...or frosted, when cool, with your favorite white icing.

TO SAVE ON SUGAR: Use ¾ cup white corn syrup and only ¾ cup sugar. Reduce milk to ¾ cup plus 1 tbsp. Add syrup with milk to dry ingredients.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Mr. Truman said last week if prices increased again, further wage increases would be justified. Well if these settlements result in another price increase, then the unions can follow Mr. Truman and demand another wage increase. Each step is another zooming push upward in an inflationary spiral, which diminishes all values toward the destruction point.

These developments may not prove as unhappy as their nature suggests. They may lead the Republicans to strengthen their bill in time. Indeed Mr. Truman could well join any move to establish firmly the present economic line until full production restores the forces of competitive enterprise. They could both join in stopping any further price or wage increases until those forces become operative.

These pattern agreements have already been made, true enough. But congress could easily provide that any such step taken in he public interest be made retroactive, say to the day of the last election.

DEPLORE DIVORCE RATE

ONTARIO, Calif.—Alarmed at the state's rising divorce rate, Ontario pastors have pledged themselves not to marry divorced persons who cannot prove that divorce grounds were "sufficient from a Christian viewpoint." The Ontario ministerial union also urged feuding couples to consult a minister before visiting a divorce lawyer.

NEW YORK, April 24—Fred Allen, the madcap comedian who has a mad on for radio vice presidents, told a joke on them during his Sunday night broadcast. But it turned out to be a private witticism with his studio audience.

NBC cut 25 seconds of the program off the air because Allen explained the network, insisted on telling this joke which they didn't approve of.

It all happened because the Sunday before last Allen used up his 30 minutes of air time before finishing his script. The network had to cut in to get the next program on the air on time. So this week, he made a joke about it.

On Friday, NBC said the joke wouldn't go. Saturday and just before the program on Sunday, according to NBC, the comedian was told again a change would have to be made because the company didn't approve of that sort of ridicule of radio.

Here's what you missed during the 25 seconds of silence from your loudspeaker. Portland asked what happened the week before when they were cut off the air.

Allen: well, there is a little man in the company we work for. (That's as much as the listening audience heard.) He is vice president in charge of program ends. When our program runs overtime, he marks down how much time is saved.

Portland: What does he do with all this time?

Allen: He adds it all up, 10 seconds here, 20 seconds there, and when the vice president has saved up enough seconds, minutes and hours to make two weeks, he uses the two weeks of our time for his vacation. (the radio audience, meantime, blaming the tubes, condensers, and the radio repairman for missing that small bit heard Allen come back on the air with): "Well, enough about minor matters."

The dispute seemed to be over the reference to "the company we work for." NBC, said the advertising agency for Allen's sponsor, suggested that he write in "the advertising agency we work for." If they want to write my script, said the comedian, why don't they come in on Monday with the rest of the writers. "They said I couldn't kid radio."

HOLLYWOOD, April 24 — Comedians Bob Hope and Red Skelton today were figuratively "stood in the corner" with Fred Allen by the National Broadcasting company.

Both Hope and Skelton were briefly cut off the air in rapid succession Tuesday night when they started making ad lib puns about network censorship.

Hope was the first to get the silent treatment last night. He was discussing the famous gambling center of Las Vegas, Nev., when he quipped:

"You can get tanned and faded at the same time — of course, Fred Allen can get faded anytime."

As far as the radio audience was concerned that was as far as he got. He was immediately cut off the network.

Skelton, whose program immediately follows Hope's, said:

"We might ad lib something to hurt the dignity of NBC. Did you hear what happened to Fred Allen Sunday?"

Skelton was immediately cut off the air for a few seconds When he was returned to the network, Red said:

"Well, I see we have rejoined the parade of the stars."

A lighted house number is a great convenience to your guests and others trying to find a certain number. An attractive effect can be obtained with a 3-watt bulb behind a frosted glass panel in a small metal box recessed in the wall.

Never scour china or pottery. Hard rubbing and cleaning powders may cause the color or gilt to fade and damage the smooth finish.

City School Bond Issue Can Pass With 60 Percent Vote

NEW STATE LAW REDUCES VOTE TO PASS ISSUE

Disabled, Absent Voters' Ballot Deadline Next Thursday, May 1

Under a new state law the bond issue for school improvement and expansion will be passed May 6 if 60 per cent of the voters who cast their ballots on that date vote in favor of the issue.

Previously the approval of at least 65 per cent was necessary but notification was received Thursday by the Pickaway county board of elections from Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel that the requirement has been dropped 5 per cent.

The state secretary declared that the act stipulating 60 per cent was passed by the legislature April 1 as an emergency measure, was signed April 3 by Governor Thomas J. Herbert, and became effective immediately.

DISABLED and absent voters' ballots will be issued up until 6:30 p. m. May 1, the elections board said, and 12 noon May 2 will be the deadline for voting and returning such ballots to the office of he board in the basement of the courthouse.

Soldiers' absent voter's ballots may be cast any time up until noon on election day at the elections board office or at the proper precinct polling place on election day.

The polls will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. for the May 6 balloting in which 18 candidates — 16 Democrats and 2 Republicans — willl seek party nominations at the primary for 12 Circleville political posts. The only contests will be for mayor, councilman-at-large, and councilman in the 3rd and 4th wards.

INDICATIONS are that the interest of the voters will be focused chiefly on the proposed school bond issue which is to be balloted on at a special election to be held simultaneously with the regular primary on May 6.

Voters in the Circleville city School District, embracing Circleville and a part of Circleville township, will ballot "for" or "against" the bond issue which has three major aims, namely (1) construction of a vocational education building with complete equipment for the training of youths in industrial trades, (2) a physical education building with an adequately equipped gymnasium, and (3) remodeling and modernization of portions of the present school buildings.

CIRCLEVILLE now has 12 precincts as a result of the recent division of Precinct A in Ward 1 into two voting precincts. The elections board also pointed out that voters in Circleville township eligible to vote on the school bond issue will cast such ballots at Precinct D, Ward 1, in Circleville. This precinct is located at Helvering's filling station on East Main street.

The newly created precinct is Precinct E in Ward 1, and the polling place will be in the office of the Forest cemetery, North Court street.

Following is a complete and up-to-date list of Circleville's precinct polling places:

Ward 1, Precinct A, Shell filling station, North Court street.
Ward 1, Precinct B, American Hotel.
Ward 1, Precinct C, Community House, East Main street.
Ward 1, Precinct D, Helvering filling station, East Main street.
Ward 1, Precinct E, Forest cemetery office.
Ward 2, Precinct A, Central Fire Station, East Franklin street.
Ward 2, Precinct B, Shellhamer garage, East Mound street.
Ward 3, Precinct A, County Engineer's office, courthouse.
Ward 3, Precinct B, Winfough's garage, West Ohio street.
Ward 4, Precinct A, George Himrod, South Pickaway street.
Ward 4, Precinct B, Blubaugh Implement company, Clinton and Mill streets.
Ward 4, Precinct C, Sears and Nichols, South Washington street.

FALLING PANTS MAKES SNATCHER CAPTURE EASY

EVANSTON, Ill., April 24—Because his ill-fitting pants began to slip as he fled, 26-year-old Ormand O. Palmer of Plymouth, Ind., was in jail at Evanston today.

Police said Palmer was an ex-convict and dishonorably discharged Army deserter who had admitted seven purse snatchings in Evanston and nearby Wilmette.

They said he assaulted Mrs. Patrick Hayes yesterday and stole her purse containing $10.

As he started to run, Mrs. Hayes screamed. Two patrolmen heard her and gave chase. Palmer's trousers began to droop and impeded his flight. The officers captured him easily.

At the lockup it was discovered he was wearing a second pair of pants under the ill-fitting ones. The outside pair were identified as stolen.

House Group Scores Communism, Fascism

PETRILLO HIT IN SWEEPING NEW CHARGES

Truman Asked To Force Clark To Take Action Against 'Reds'

WASHINGTON, April 24—The house un-American activities committee lashed out today in three different directions — James C. Petrillo, Communism and Fascism.

Rep. McDowell (R) Pa., reported on the progress of his Fascism sub-committee, and his fellow Pennsylvania Republican Rep. Kearns, was named by Chairman Thomas (R) N. J., to in[illegible]é Petrillo and the AFL union.

same time, Thomas ed a letter to the ouse urging President a to order Attorney General Clark to open an immediate offensive against American Communists.

Thomas told the President that it will be "sheer folly to spend 50 million dollars to purge the government of Communists, or 400 million dollars to stop the Communists in Greece, if our department of justice is not going to face this issue squarely at home."

McDOWELL said that he and committee investigators had already been looking into the Fascist situation for six weeks, and that probably eight more weeks of investigations would pass before open hearings were held.

He declared the subcommittee would overlook nothing in its inquiries, even to the extent that

RUSSIANS TRAIN GERMANS TO RUN OCCUPIED REICH

LONDON, April 24 — The London Daily Mail said today that 90,000 German officers and noncoms under leadership of the German commanders at Stalingrad are being trained in Russia to assume key posts in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany.

The officers are reported commanded by Field Marshal Friedrich Von Paulus and General Walther Von Seydlitz, who formed the pro-Soviet "free-Germany committee" immediately following the German disaster at Stalingrad.

The newspaper said that western allied authorities are carefully studying information received on these officers' activities.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Walter Kiernan

Plans for '48 are shaping up — the Republicans will return to Philadelphia, Durocher will return to Brooklyn and the CIO will not return to the AFL.

Philadelphia paid $200,000 for the GOP convention. The city will furnish everything except the candidate.

Dewey, Taft and Vandenberg all ran on the Philadelphia track before but it turned fast on the last day and Willkie came from behind.

But it's good to know that CIO-AFL peace discussions are to start again with that dove of peace, old John L. Lewis, on the peace committee.

There could be no better expert for joining the factions of labor than the man who created them.

Anyway New York is getting a platypus for its zoo — a creature we might profitably study.

He looks awful, he feels worse and he's happy.

Witness Says May Used Check To Open Account

WASHINGTON, April 24 — A Kentucky banker today testified how ex-congressman Andrew J. May used a $10,000 check of the Garsson interests to start a lumber company bank account.

The witness was Glen Spradlin, former vice president and cashier of the First National bank in May's home town of Prestonsburg, Ky.

Spradlin was a prosecution witness at the conspiracy trial of the former chairman of the house military affairs committee and officials of the Garsson munitions combine.

THE GOVERNMENT contends that the Cumberland Lumber company of Prestonsburg for whom the account was started, was used by May and the Garssons to hide payments to the congressman for intercession with the war department in behalf of Garsson war contracts.

Spradlin identified a cashier's check which originated with the Erie Basin Metal Products company, a Garsson concern, as the one May used to open the account.

He testified that May's signature was the only one honored by the bank in connection with the Cumberland account. The banker said that May told him the company had no board of directors and no stock issued.

SPRADLIN was preceded on the witness stand by Emil Kohout of the American National Bank and Trust company of Chicago.

Kohout testified as to the authenticity of two $10,000 checks, one made payable by the Erie Basin company to Henry Garsson and the other payable to Murray Garsson.

Both Garssons along with Joseph F. Freeman, their Washington agent, are co-defendants with May in the conspiracy trial.

SCIOTO FALLING HERE; WEATHER WILL BE COOLER

Stage of the Scioto river at Circleville was 8:02 feet Thursday morning with the water level slowly dropping. Light rain began falling at 8 a. m. Thursday but no further flood damage was anticipated.

The river level fell 4.06 feet during the 24 hours ended at 7:30 a. m. Thursday. The high temperature reading during the 24-hour period ended Thursday morning was 79 degrees and the low was 63. The calculations were made by the state highway department.

After one of the warmest days of Spring, the mercury was falling Thursday and the weatherman promised cool weather Thursday night and Friday.

Highest temperatures of the year so far were recorded over the state yesterday afternoon, but rain this morning sent the mercury down at a rapid pace.

A drop of 21 degrees in four hours was recorded at Cleveland where the thermometer went from 56 degrees at 6 a. m. to 44 at 10 a. m.

Forecasters said that the rain would be ending this afternoon, with cloudy and cool conditions hanging on through tomorrow. There was a chance that Saturday would be fair and warmer.

The mercury hit 84 degrees at Chesapeake yesterday afternoon and it was 80 at Toledo, which seldom warms up at the same rate as the rest of the state.

INDEPENDENCE PROPOSED
WASHINGTON, April 24—Sen. Tydings (D) Md., today introduced in the senate a bill providing for Puerto Rican independence.

CARELESSNESS SEEN AS CAUSE OF TEXAS BLASTS

GALVESTON, Tex., April 24—Coast Guard investigation of the Texas City disaster entered its sixth day in Galveston today with an unknown number of witnesses still to be heard.

Testimony from 15 persons already has been entered in the record.

The most significant development was a statement by Capt. John D. Lutz, Chicago, a member of the Army-Navy explosives safety board.

He asserted that the chain of explosions and fires which leveled the Texas City waterfront and killed an estimated 575 persons last Wednesday and Thursday resulted from "the lack of proper orders and carelessness in handling on the part of everybody connected with the shipping of ammonium-nitrate fertilizer."

Testimony at the hearing has established that the fire which broke out aboard the French ship Grandcamp spread too rapidly for the crew to combat it.

Also, witnesses said, the craft was abandoned by the crew without any definite warning to firemen and spectators on the dock that there might be an explosion.

Members of the Coast Guard board have said they are convinced that a careless smoker was to blame for the entire disaster. They have been told that "no smoking" regulations were violated frequently on the ships and in the dock area.

PARTIAL REPORT ON OHIO LIQUOR PROBE STUDIED

Legislators And Herbert Nearly Agreed Now On Financial Program

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—The first partial report of the senate's special liquor investigating committee vied for legislative interest today with near agreement between leaders and Governor Herbert on a financial program.

The liquor probers highlighted their report with a recommendation that public hearings be given on all applications for new permits.

Other highlights of the liquor report:

Increase the liquor board membership from four to five;

Increase the salaries of the board members and the director, but with no amount of increase specified, (members now receive $4,500 while the director gets $6,500);

Require both the board and the director to promulgate rules and regulations, publish them, and keep them on file and up to date;

Establish a separate enforcement division, with agents being schooled along highway patrol lines before they are made permanent employes.

ASSEMBLY leaders and Governor Herbert agreed on most aspects of a program that would cost the state about 31 and ¾ millions a year in local aid, as against the 16 millions received in 1945 and the 21 millions allocated last year.

The governor admitted that "we did not reach an absolute, definite agreement," but added that "I think we are getting closer together."

There were still some differences of opinion on the question of vacating the admissions tax, which currently is a three per cent levy yielding the state some three million dollars a year. One conferee, however, said that it was practically agreed to vacate the field and thus authorize cities to levy on this source without limit — possibly up to ten per cent.

In the two-hour-and-a-half conference last night, held at the governor's mansion, Herbert said nothing "definite" had been agreed on the proposal specific-

OHIO ASSEMBLY URGED TO ORDER WALLACE HOME

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—The Ohio house of representatives was urged today to call upon Henry W. Wallace to return home.

Rep. George Braden (R-Trumbull) introduced a resolution expressing "to Mr. Wallace its opinion that he can best serve the cause of peace by returning to the United States of America at his earliest convenience", and proposing to send a copy of the resolution to Wallace "wherever he may be."

Wallace, the resolution stated, "has persistenly waged attack "has persistently waged attack speeches abroad," and pointed out that "undue weight is given to these remarks in view of his former high government position."

The resolution was sent to the reference committee.

3 DIE IN CRASH
FULTON, KANS., Arpil 24 — Three men were killed instantly today when a Frisco railroad Kansas City-Florida passenger train struck a gasoline transport truck at a Fulton intersection.

AFTER HEARING the government charge that he cashed a $1,000 check signed by a soldier for whom he sought a war department favor in 1944, Andrew J. May, former congressman from Kentucky, and his daughter, Mrs. Olga Latta, leave court in Washington. May is on trial with officials of the Garsson munitions combine on charges of conspiracy.

Anne Downing Champion Speller of City Schools

Anne Downing, 7th grade pupil in the Corwin school will represent Circleville at the finals to be held Saturday, May 3, in the Southern hotel at Columbus to determine the spelling championship of 28 central Ohio counties.

Anne won the city championship, it was announced Thursday, as a climax to elimination spelling contests in the various schools. In the interbuilding contest other participants were Mary Ann McClure, Walnut school; Elliot Hawkes and Carol Ann Johnson, Franklin school; Sally Cochran, High street; and Eleanor Smith, 8th grade.

The spelling competition was under the sponsorship of a Columbus newspaper and the winner of the district championship at the May 3 finals will receive a four-day all-expense trip to Washington, D. C., and a chance to win the national championship.

• • •

ELIMINATION spelling bees were held in the four Circleville schools in the last few days. Winners in each grade in the four schools were:

Walnut — 2nd grade, Patricia Smith; 3rd grade, Patricia McCain; 4th grade, Mary Ann McClure; 5th grade, David Edgington.

High—2nd grade, Alberta Hill; 3rd grade, Bernard Moats; 4th grade, Sally Cochran; 5th grade, Patty Anderson; 6th grade, Theresa Hill.

Franklin — 2nd grade, Carol Ann Johnson and James McCarty; 3rd grade, Joan Merriman and Judy Ramsey; 4th grade, Elliot Hawkes; 5th grade, Carolyn Smith.

Corwin — 2nd grade, Patricia

FIREWORKS SEEN AT UN SESSION ON PALESTINE

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 24—Advance symptoms indicated today that the United Nations special assembly on Palestine will meet in a strained and unruly atmosphere at Flushing Meadows next Monday.

An immediate battle is in prospect for the opening hours on election of a presiding chairman. The first clash between opposing factions is slated for the moment when those nominations begin.

The second major outburst on the floor undoubtedly will break out as soon as the chairman calls for adoption of the agenda, which is limited to the single issue of appointing a fact-finding commission for Palestine. Powerful support may line up with the Arab states to break the agenda wide open for general debate.

A third and not unimportant issue hovering over the special assembly is the question of representation for the Jews. Bitter demands supported in some instances by major powers may force the assembly to take more than cursory note of the requests from private and semi-official Jewish organizations for participation in the Palestine discussions.

BANK HEAD NAMED
COLUMBUS, O., April 24 — Paul A. Mitchell, executive vice president of the Citizens Savings Bank and Trust company of Hamilton, was appointed state superintendent of banks today by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

'SOMEONE MADE MISTAKE' ON MEASURE VETO

WASHINGTON, April 24—The White House said today that "someone made a mistake" in connection with President Truman's veto of a bill to give special powers to counsel for the senate war investigating committee.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross stated:

"The matter is being worked on with a view to rectifying the mistake."

Mr. Truman in his veto message declared the bill "might be interpreted as granting authority to the committee counsel to initiate civil or criminal proceedings on behalf of the United States government."

But Sen. Brewster (R) Me., chairman of the committee, which the President once headed, pointed out that identical authorizations had been signed, one by the late President Roosevelt the other by Mr. Truman.

These were in connection with a 1944 petroleum inquiry and in the Pearl Harbor investigation.

Ross, asked who made the "mistake", replied:

"I don't know. I don't think any great harm has been done. It can be remedied."

Miners Give $100,000 To Phone Union

WASHINGTON, April 24—The United Mine Workers union today contributed $100,000 to the National Federation of Telephone Workers to aid the union in the 18-day-old strike for higher wages.

A check for this amount was presented to the telephone union by John T. Jones and John J. Mates, UMW exeuctive board members, upon authorization by mine chief John L. Lewis and his executive board.

C. M. Werkau, national strike director of the telephone union, thanked the UMW representatives for the contribution and told them that "through such efforts we will be able to carry our fight through to a successful conclusion."

Growing financial support for the telephone walkout was manifested as government conciliators got ready for a new round of peace parleys on the prolonged communications tieup.

The NFTW national defense fund already contained $56,776 before the contribution from the miners.

Werkau said the defense fund would be used "for a general prosecution of the strike and to care for any hardship cases among our members."

JUDGE RETURNS FINE TO UMW

Goldsborough Signs Order Reducing Penalty In Contempt Action

WASHINGTON, April 24—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today returned to the United Mine Workers the $2,800,000 conditionally remitted in the coal walkout contempt conviction.

The jurist said he now considered that the union had shown "a proper sense of proportion and social responsibility."

The supreme court in affirming conviction of John L. Lewis and the UMW had reduced to $700,000 the original fine of $3,500,000 assessed against the union.

But the remittance was made contingent on the UMW's compliance with a mandate forbidding a walkout.

GOLDSBOROUGH signed the order in his chambers after a brief court session.

The mine workers, in order to secure the return, paid a $35,000 "poundage fee" to the government for holding U. S. bonds pending disposition of the UMW appeal to the supreme court.

Goldsborough said the "basic issues" in the case had not been determined and probably would not be in view of the June 30 expiration of government control of the mines.

The principal issue was whether John L. Lewis, president of the UMW, had a right to terminate the union's agreement with the government under which the mines have been operation since federal seizure last May.

THE JUDGE made no reference today to his sharp criticism of Lewis' actions which charac-

Marshall And Helpers Ready To Leave For Home As Meeting Folds Up

BULLETIN
LONDON, April 24 — Radio Moscow reported that the Big Four conference adjourned tonight at 7:35 p. m. (11:35 a. m. est).

The broadcast said the next session of the foreign ministers will take place in London in November.

MOSCOW, April 24 — The Big Four foreign ministers council will wind up the Moscow conference tonight at a banquet at the kremlin as the guests of Premier Stalin.

The disclosure came today as United States Secretary of State Marshall prepared to leave Moscow by plane tomorrow morning for Washington.

His deputy for Austrian talks, Gen. Mark W. Clark, also has ordered his plane for departure in the morning.

The Big Four's top ranking assistants also will attend the banquet at 8:30.

The kremlin banquet was regarded as the conference's swan song.

American officials said it indicated that no surprises may be expected in the deadlocked proceedings. They predicted that this afternoon's session will be brief and harmonious, with all delegations avoiding any return to acrimonious exchanges.

AMERICAN overseas airlines has been ordered to have three planes in Moscow for the departure of the American delegation and newsmen accredited to the conference.

At least five other American planes will leave tomorrow and Saturday. Besides Marshall's plane to Washington and Clark's to Vienna, a third plane will carry ambassador Robert Murphy back to Berlin.

The French and British prepared to leave on their special trains.

GRECO-TURKISH AID BILL FACES DELAY IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, April 24—The house leadership disclosed today that the Greco-Turkish aid bill may be shelved temporarily as a move developed to delay final action on President Truman's program to combat the spread of Communism.

Majority Leader Halleck (R) Ind., said a vote on the 400-million-dollar measure, which was approved by the senate 68-23, may be postponed for 10 days or two weeks, perhaps longer.

Simultaneously, Rep. Smith (R) Wis., a foreign committee member, revealed that he may offer a motion to recommit the bill.

The move to delay final action on the President's program developed overnight after Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., foriegn affairs committee chairman, said Speaker Martin (R) Mass., had set a tentative schedule calling for passage by the end of next week.

Halleck expressed doubt, however, over whether the bill would be even called up next week for ing company reduces chloride of sage is apparently assured by an overwhelming margin, it is no secret that the leadership has made no attempt to expedite action.

ally to authorize cities to levy as well on the consumers' gas, light and phone bills.

REP. WALTER Tarr (R-Hamilton) chairman of the house taxation committee, said however that his committee probably would bring out the bills next week as a result of the conference.

Herbert stated there was a "general atmosphere of hopefulness."

On schools, the governor said that "I reiterated my position that we ought to stay in the neighborhood of 80 millions a year as a base figure." The Daniels - Crabtree school bill, passed by the senate and now before the house education committee, provides for a 90-million base.

However, it was freely predicted that the committee, which concluded public hearings on the measure last night and will now go into executive session on the measure, would whittle ten millions from the total.

RESOLUTIONS introduced in the house yesterday proposed to demand that Henry Wallace return from Europe, to memorialize congress to exempt teachers from income tax, and to establish a legislative committee to investigate justice of the peace courts.

The house passed five bills, including measures to exempt police from personal liability as the result of an auto accident when on duty, except for wilful negligence.

The McClure bill regulating rates for cauality and auto insurance passed, 116-12, while a bill to strengthen regulation of real estate brokers and salesmen passed, 99-22.

Any fire started in a hotel through careless disposal of a cigaret, cigar or pipe ashes would cost the smoker a maximum $250 fine, or 30 days in jail, under terms of the Woodward bill, passed, 121-1. All five bills go to the senate for concurrence.

THE SENATE passed the Winter bill, authorizing cities to collect 10 per cent of the "shelter rent" — rent less payment of utilities — of public housing projects in lieu of taxes.

It also passed unanimously the resolution of Sen. Fred Adams (R-Bowling Green) memorializing congress not to approve the proposed Great Lakes fishing agreement between the United States and Canada.

The Nevius trial was recalled when the senate passed a bill lto provide for the trial of public officials accused of bribery either in the county where the offense was committed or in the county where the official served.

The senate also passed unanimously bills to make the transfer of a school district mandatory when approved by a vote of the people in the district, and to authorize a county auditor to pay bills for repairing fence upon certification of the township trustees.

Bills to fix a ceiling of $25 a month on the pay of members of county soldiers' relief commissions, and to authorize the highway department to transfer a tract of land in Mahoning county for street purposes, were introduced.

CONGRESS TOLD TAXES CAN BE REDUCED NOW

WASHINGTON, April 24 — Former undersecretary of the treasury John W. Hanes told congress today that the treasury surplus will be sufficiently large to provide effective taxpayer relief and to make at the same time substantial reductions in the federal debt.

Hanes, now chairman of the board of trustees of the tax foundation, appeared before the senate finance committee to endorse again the house-approved GOP measure cutting federal income taxes up to 30 per cent.

The former treasury official declared his "whole-hearted support" for the program of cutting spending to the limit as voted by congress, of reducing taxes as proposed by the house measure and of applying to debt reduction the surplus that will result therefrom.

Hanes called for a cut in the high cost of the government which he showed in a chart has risen 371 per cent from 1939 to 1947. According to Hanes' chart other increases during the same period were 70 per cent for manufactured products, 77 per cent for clothing and 93 per cent for food.

BASEBALL COSTS HIGH, SCO LOOP BACKERS LEARN

Some interesting figures on the expenses of operating the South Central Ohio Baseball league were relelased Thursday by Robert Bailey, Washington C. H., secretary of the loop.

Bailey points out that many of the parks have to rely on voluntary contributions to finance the team and without generous support of fans will go "in the hole" during the season.

Some of the interesting items on expenses include: baseballs at $24 per dozen, approximately 80 dozen to be used, $1,920; bats, $3 each, estimated 30 dozen, $1,080; team traveling expenses, $1,680; advertising and publicity, $1,200; umpires, $1,092.

Add to this the cost of paying groundskeepers, ticket sellers, losses through rained out games, uniforms, taxes, and many other incidental items and it is not hard to see that overall costs will approach the $15,000 mark.

Ashville is planning a good team and sponsors will feel like get-better players if Pickaway county fans support the club.

JOB STRIKE ENDS

JACKSON, O., April 24—Highway workers returned to their jobs at the Jackson garage of the state highway department today to end a ten-day job-security strike.

BABY FOUND DEAD

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—A new-born baby boy was found smothered to death today in a field near route 751 west of Reynoldsburg.

INDUSTRY EXPANDS

AKRON, O.—One of America's foremost industries, the production of rubber goods, has now expanded to South Africa. The first tire recently was made at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company's new factory in Uitenhage, according to P. W. Litchfield, chairman of the board of the Akron concern.

ENTIRE CREW OF BRITISH TANKER DIES IN CRASH

LONDON, April 24—The entire crew of the British oil tanker 42-man crew of the British oil tanker Samtampa were swept to their deaths today after the vessel crashed on the rocks at Porthcawl in an 80-mile gale.

Eight men who attempted to row out to the broken steamer pinned on the treacherous rocks at Sker Point were drowned under the eyes of hundreds of fisherfolk on shore when their lifeboat capsized.

The fierce gale drove the British warship Warspite onto the rocks of the west Cornwall coast and fishermen who rescued her crew said she was doomed.

The 32,000 ton veteran of two wars was en route to a shipbreaker's yard when the storm drove her ashore.

When the tide receded at Porthcawl a number of the villagers walked out to the wreck. They found a number of bodies entangled in the wreckage. Other bodies were washed ashore covered with tar oil and badly mutilated from being pounded against the rocks.

The lifeboat attempted twice to reach the stricken 7,000 ton tanker. On the third attempt the rescuers were near the vessel when they caught the full force of the gale.

Deaths and Funerals

MORRIS RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Estella Ritt Morris, 85, of 509 North Court street, who lived her entire life in Pickaway county and died at 6:55 a. m. Wednesday in the Home and Hospital, South Scioto street, will be conducted at 3:30 p. m. Friday at the residence. The Rev. Donald E. Mitchell will officiate. Burial will be in Forest cemetery under direction of the Albaugh funeral home. Friends may call at the home from 7 to 8 p. m. Thursday.

Death followed a two-month illness and was attributed to complications. Mrs. Morris was born Dec. 25, 1861 in Walnut township, the daughter of Benjamin Ritt and Mary Jane McDowell Ritt. She was married Dec. 9, 1884 to George W. Morris, who died Feb. 4, 1918. One son is deceased. Mrs. Morris was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Morris is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles M. Rife, 131 West Union street, and four nieces and two nephews.

JOE HINSON

Funeral will be held at 1 p. m. Friday in his residence at Madeira, Ohio, for Joe Hinson, 73, former Pickaway county resident who died Tuesday.

Born and reared in Pickaway county, Mr. Hinson was the son of Henry and Mary Drumm Hinson. He moved to Madeira several years ago.

Surviving besides the widow are two brothers, Frank Hinson, Walnut township, and Will Hinson, Cleveland; two sisters, Mrs. E. J. Youngman, McClain, Ill., and Miss Lyda Hinson, Columbus.

JUDGE RETURNS FINE TO UMW

terized remarks from the bench two weeks ago.

At that time Goldsborough declared the union and Lewis had displayed an "utterly contemptuous attitude" toward the court in ordering a week-long walkout in memory of the Centralia (Ill.) blast victims, and in carrying through the recent safety walkout.

Shortly after Goldsborough announced his decision to return the money the UMW presented a certified check for $700,000 in payment of the contempt fine and received in return $3,500,000 in bonds.

Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett told the court today that the government "interposes no objection to the return of the money."

Sonnett said that while coal production had been "subnormal" since the end of the safety strike on April 14, the justice department found "no real injury to the people of the United States.

BRITISH PLAN TO CONTINUE TO HELP IN EUROPE

CINCINNATI, O., April 24 — Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador, declared today that despite Britain's grim economic situation the United Kingdom will make good its commitments in Germany and the countries of western Europe.

The ambassador said it would be a grave mistake to assume from the British withdrawal in Greece "that we are getting rid of all out foreign commitments."

He explained that aid to Greece imposed a heavy burden and "ultimately ... in view of our problems at home and the costs of our other obligations abroad, we could no longer undertake to bolster her up," Inverchapel added:

"We had therefore to explain our situation clearly to your government, and I should like to pay tribute to the breadth and understanding which it has shown in the matter."

The ambassador pointed out, in an address before the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, "we are going shares with you in Germany, and we are continuing to help the countries of western Europe."

RELEASED ON BOND

Brian R. Hambrick, 21, Beckley, W. Va., arrested on a speeding charge at 1:10 a. m. Thursday on North Court street by Patrolman John W. McGinnis, was released under $10 bond for appearance at 8 p. m. Thursday before Mayor Ben H. Gordon. The arresting officer declared Hambrick drove a truck 50 miles an hour.

DEER RACES TRAIN

DUNCANNON, Pa., — An engineer of a Pennsylvania railroad train couldn't quite believe his eyes when he saw a deer loping between the tracks ahead of his engine. He had to pull on the whistle several times before the animal would give up the race and scamper into the woods.

PETRILLO HIT IN SWEEPING NEW CHARGES

the Communist party had been asked to present evidence. McDowell admitted there was danger, however, that the Communists would name all bankers, soldiers, industrialists and Republicans.

Investigation carried on so far, he said, revealed that Fascism today was "spotty, appearing in some parts of the country and not in others." He said evidence of Fascism had been found in New York, Chicago, Southern California, Texas and Georgia.

He declared that Georgia "breeds this sort of thing for some reason," and named the Columbians as a genuine Fascist group whose danger was limited because it was localized.

• • •

THE SUBCOMMITTEE chairman cautioned against indiscriminate use of the Fascist label, particularly by Communists. He said:

"I've come to the conclusion that Fascism both here and abroad feeds on Communism just as Communism feeds on Fascism."

Kearns declared he hoped to be able to make a complete report on the activities of Petrillo and the musicians' union. He said:

"I believe that there should be an accounting to the public of the procedure and activities in the operation of this union under Petrillo's leadership."

LONG SESSIONS FACE SOLONS IN NEXT FEW WEEKS

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—The house of representatives was warned today by majority leader Paul McCormick (R-Logan) to prepare for its first five-day sessions next week.

McCormick issued his statement as the house and senate adjourned until 8 p. m. Monday night. He pointed out that a speedup was necessary if the day of final adjournment were to be advanced.

The house passed unanimously bills removing the present maximum salaries on the Lorain municipal judge and clerk and authorizing the state to sell to Auglaize county for $1,000 land needed for a county highway garage.

Another bill to increase from $500 to $1,000 the value of a contract which may be awarded by public officials without competitive bidding passed, 103 to 3.

A group of Democrats introduced a resolution which would call on congress to make a study of price control "with a view to preventing a runaway inflation cycle." The measure, however, was expected to be buried in the reference committee by the Republican majority Monday night.

The senate also passed three bills by unanimous vote. One would authorize financial institutions to transact business on holidays and outside regular banking hours. Another would repeal 58 more obsolete sections of the general code.

DOCTOR, NURSE HURT IN CRASH ON ROUTE 104

Dr. Z. J. R. Hollenback, Columbus, and Miss Betty Jeanne Breth, Chillicothe, nurse at University hospital, Columbus, narrowly escaped death or serious injury shortly after 9 a. m. Thursday when the auto in which they were riding, driven by Miss Breth, skidded on the wet pavement on State Route 104, one mile north of State Route 762, north of Circleville, struck a concrete post, and turned over several times.

Passing motorists removed the injured physician and nurse to University hospital where it was reported both suffered minor injuries. They had been enroute to Berger hospital in Circleville where Dr. Hollenback was to have performed surgery.

Miss Breth sustained abrasions and Dr. Hollenback suffered bruises. The car was badly damaged and it was removed from the scene by a Columbus wrecker. Deputy Sheriff Vern L. Pontious investigated the accident.

PARENTS SPURN CHILDREN'S CARE

WITH BOWED HEADS, Mrs. Betty Smith Phillips (left) and her former husband, Melvin David Smith, appear in Los Angeles court to testify they cannot keep their 14-year-old daughter, Shirley (center), or their 11-year-old son, Donald. The children have no place to go since their parents remarried. The mother says she "has no place for them," while the father claims they don't get along with children by his second marriage. (International Soundphoto)

Witness Says May Used Check To Open Account

declared that a $1,000 check signed by a soldier and cashed by May was merely a "contribution" to the 1944 Democratic campaign in Kentucky.

The check came to light yesterday at the conspiracy trial of May and officials of the Garsson munitions combine. It was signed by Albert Freeman, a son of Joseph Freeman, Garsson's Washington agent and a co-defendant in the trial.

The government has charged that May used his position as a member of congress and chairman of the house military affairs committee to seek special war department favors for the younger Freeman.

DEFENSE COUNSEL Sawyer Smith said that both the Freeman check and a matching one signed by E. D. Feldman, a California war contractor, were "purely and simply campaign contributions to the Democratic committee and nothing else."

He said they had been made payable to R. V. May, the ex-congressman's son, because R. V. May had been at one time chairman of the Democratic committee in a Kentucky district.

The checks, when cashed, were countersigned by R. V. May and A. J. May and cashed in the office of the house of representatives sergeant ; at-arms.

Smith said that Andrew May put both signatures on the check himself because his son was in the service when they came in.

STALIN HOST TO DELEGATES AT MOSCOW CONFAB

ritual of the seven-weeks long Moscow conference.

The three western powers, however, gave Russia a final chance to avert responsibility for blocking an Austrian settlement.

Official sources revealed that Clark has prepared a statement for delivery by Marshall on the central problem of German assets in Austria in case Russian Foreign Minister Molotov offers to settle on the basis of known Soviet objectives.

Any real Soviet concession is not expected, however, in view of Molotov's repeated warning yesterday that the Soviet position is unchanged.

The American delegation anticipated overtures which may seem new but actually will be a restatement for virtually unlimited control of certain key industries in eastern Austria.

The United States is holding its position in this struggle more firmly than Austria, which is willing to meet the Soviets more than halfway to get rid of occupation troops.

SOARING PRICES BRING PRESSURE FOR CONTROLS

Sen. Morse Blasts Industry And Labor For High Cost Of Living

WASHINGTON, April 24—Sen. Morse (R) Ore., declared today that soaring prices are adding to public pressure for drastic labor controls and called on organized labor to take voluntary steps to increase productivity.

The pro-labor Oregon Republican asked labor to:

1. Get rid of "made-work" programs.
2. Eliminate all restrictions on production.
3. Make it possible for more persons to join unions and thus move into productive jobs in union shops.
4. Increase the number of apprentices in skilled crafts.

Morse blamed both industry and labor for increasing living costs and accused them of "the greatest profiteering in all history."

MEANWHILE, the senate marked time on debate on the "one-package" omnibus labor bill while it disposed of the Gordon R. Clapp nomination to head Tennessee Valley authority, and the deficiency appropriation bill.

Morse prepared for a probably-unsuccessful battle to keep advocates of a "tough" bill from putting back into the measure provisions a GOP-Democratic coalition knocked out in the senate labor committee, declaring that high prices are helping the critics of labor. He said:

"The continuing high living costs are intensifying labor difficulties that will give further support to those in congress who want drastic labor legislation."

MORSE declared that only "voluntary action" can avert further "dislocations" and vigorously denounced both industry and labor.

Morse blamed "featherbedding" practices of unions, the curtailing of apprentices, and the barring of new workers from industry through the closed shop, along with industrial "profiteering". But he declared that legislation is not the cure.

Morse put the high-cost-of-living problem ahead of the labor controls issue in importance, calling it "the major single domestic problem facing the country."

Alfred and Dorothy Kern Hallowell, is in critical condition from six gun wounds received in the chase. (International Soundphoto)

ALLEN DECLINES VICE PRESIDENT POST WITH NBC

NEW YORK, April 24 — Fred Allen, radio comedian, declined today an "honorary" vice-presidency of the National Broadcasting company.

NBS offered the post to Allen in the expectation that he would forgive and forget that he had been "dimmed out" last Sunday when he wanted to make a crack about NBC vice-presidents.

Allen said that he couldn't accept the honorary position "because of the press of other duties" and because of his "health". It was obvious however that Allen was pleased with the attitude of NBC.

The furore started last Sunday when Allen was cut off the air for 25 seconds because he sought to discuss a "vice president in charge of program ends."

Bob Hope and Red Skelton also were "dimmed out" when they started to make cracks about Fred Allen's plight.

WAR MEMORIAL IN OHIO FIRST OF ITS KIND

Governor Accepts Forest For State In Ceremonies Next Sunday

Ohio sets the national pace in official war memorials with the acceptance by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, Sunday, April 27, at 1:30 p. m. of the memorial forest South of Loudonville, from the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, founders.

Focal point of the forest, comprising group and individual plantings to Ohio's war dead, is the shrine standing near the edge of the 3,500 acre tract at the intersection of Routes 3 and 97. This building houses a huge book made of carved walnut containing the names of Ohio's 20,000 war dead, each individually written by Akron members of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. Two additional books contain the names of individual donors and groups.

Eighty-eight trees including maple, oaks, tulips, gumwood, walnut, buckeye, hemlock, and pine will be planted on either side of the shrine representing the state's counties. Funds for the land were appropriated in a previous session of the state legislature and acquisition of land done by the Ohio division of forestry. Plantings are also under the supervision of the forestry division.

THIS NEW war memorial, the first of its type in the country, is located directly across the Mohican state forest where recreational features are available. A 200 acre sanctuary will be set apart around the shrine along the stream, Pine Run.

The memorial book in the Shrine was presented by the Akron and Summit County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. L. L. Kinsey, Akron, is general chairman of the dedication and acceptance ceremony next Sunday. Mrs. Kinsey is also retiring state chairman of conservation activities for the women's group and Mrs. Clarence Goldthrope, Youngstown, state president.

Mrs. Ralph Lindsey, Bryan, who is co-chairman of the forest is sending out certificates containing the names of those contributing and the names of the one honored. These certificates go to the relatives.

Mrs. Lindsey states: "It is a great satisfaction to know that this great living memorial is of the type that the relatives of those who have been taken from us want. I receive many letters from those who have received certificates from friends or groups expressing their thanks and their appreciation for honoring their son or daughter by planting trees. These trees will grow and be constant reminders of those who gave so much for all of us."

STARVING ROMANIA

ROMANIA, especially that part known as Moldavia, bordering the Ukraine, is in the grip of the worst famine known in Europe for 50 years. People died of starvation at the rate of 700 a week in February. More than half the babies born died in infancy. Causes are two years of drought, added to support of Nazi troops during war years and Russian soldiers later. Quantities of grain and live stock have been carried off by Russians as reparations.

Pleas for help went practically unanswered by Russia, which also is suffering from poor harvests in the Ukraine. The United States sent a shipload of goods, got it there early in March in record time. Conditions were first laid down, such as supervision of relief by Americans, before this country would help. What was sent was only a trickle, enough to stave off death for a month.

Romania wants more American help, but there are difficulties in the way. The money offered in payment, it is said, came from loot taken by the Nazis, with whom Romania co-operated, from allied countries. Also, U. S. officials have concluded that much of the American contribution through UNRRA went to bolster communistic governments and weaken democratic tendencies in many European countries. There is no desire to repeat this experience.

Here is a complex situation with the common people of Romania victims, first of nazism, now of communism; and the American democracy, ordinarily sympathetic to a foodless plight, wearying at last of fostering political intrigue by means of food. The problem must be solved—but how? It is not Uncle Sam who is cruel in delaying food. Romania can have it if she will straighten up and guarantee good behavior. But can she? Will she? Does she know how?

JUMPING BEANS, MAYBE?

HENRY WALLACE stirred up a much bigger rumpus than might have been expected. As a result, in the opinion of a great many people, the matter has amounted to just a little more than a hill of beans. Thus, as the Cleveland Plain Dealer observed, "the more he talked, the more he hurt him self." It was a good lesson on the merits of discreet silence.

Some people think labor can do no wrong, and others think capital can do no wrong; and as a matter of fact, they're both wrong. How about Congress?

Next thing, the surgeons will be transplanting brains as regular procedure, with the line forming on the right.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 24 The peculiar thing about the Big Steel agreement for another round of wage increases, 15 cents an hour this time, is that neither side considered the primarily important public point of interest. The initial announcements at least said nothing about a price increase, but rather ominously avoided the subject.

Certain senators noticed this. A new wrinkle seems to have developed in management-union agreements which was not considered in the pending labor legislation. The possibility is now being foreseen that management could make agreements with unions which would break the national economic policy of the government. No adequate provision had been made for this.

The house and senate labor committees had been absorbed in promoting equal rights and opportunity for both sides in their dealing but forgot the third side. Most of the committeemen with whom I talked had assumed management would naturally protect the public against too high wages and the unions would naturally protect the public against too low wages. They did not foresee the possibilities which arose first in the electrical workers settlement with General Motors (neither side mentioned price increases there either) that management might merely pass along increased costs to the public.

What cost wage increases?

U. S. Steel President Fairless says his agreement will increase the labor costs to his company by $75,000,000 a year. The CIO union says the cost will be $42,000,000. Say they are both grinding their axes as usual. The average of their estimates would be an increase of $59,000,000. This is only the beginning of the cost to the public. The electric-GM settlement was supposed to furnish a pattern for the auto industry. The Big Steel agreement is supposed to furnish the pattern for the nation. The ultimate cost to the public of the settlement herefore could be billions.

The strategy of Big Steel, I am told by certain insiders, is that the settlement is apt to be sufficiently unpopular to push the pending union reform legislation through congress. As a matter of fact, however, the legislation is well on its way to final enactment within a few weeks by majorities which assure its success over an expected presidential veto. Of the union strategy in the settlement, I am not so sure. Steel is the chief ingredient in the manufacture of automobiles. If the steel price goes up and the union labor costs of the auto go up together, the effect upon the price of automobiles could be tremendous. Last year the workers in both industries got an 18½ cents an hour increase and the price of cars went up, I believe, about $75 each, according to announcements, although the price increase may have been more. At any rate the pattern settlement last year caused a general national increase of prices—the very condition upon which the unions are getting this new price increase.

What cost wage increases? the answer is: illimitable.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE .... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a fine Springmorning. Out for a look around and found all well. Lawn really too well. How that grass does grow since it has had a taste of manual mower instead of the tractor affair. And how my waist line is going down. Inside for coffee and soon away for the ville.

Too bad that we can not see our community through the eyes of visitors. Chatted with Claude W. Upp here from Illinois for the first visit in about 10 years. He greatly impressed and practically flared when someone suggested that the town had not changed since his last visit. He had seen the new homes, the larger and neater stores, the improved farms, the much larger industry. He is a son-in-law of J. B. Majors. Almost everyone remembers "Daddy."

One thing the visitor did not hear and that was much talk about the election which is only a pair of weeks away. Either there is no interest or the voters already have decided their side of the fence. Only discussion is about the school bond issue. And that largely favorable as it should be. Costly, yes, but necessary. Our school system has been off on the wrong road too long already and the sooner we recognize the fact the less the bill to the taxpayers. We are now forced to do in a time of extremely high prices what we should have done years ago at low level cost. The longer we delay the higher the cost will be.

Chatted with Charlie Gilmore who was born and reared within sight of the statue of Liberty and who never was on the island until his son was 11 years old and insisted on going there. Listened with understanding as Jim Yost complained of the high price level of merchandise and voiced hope that a downward trend is not far away. Pointed to a step ladder that sells at a dollar a foot. Said that the profit margin was larger and more ladders sold when the item was marked at a quarter a foot. Don't ever think that the merchants do not protest high prices as much as their customers. They all are worried and wondering what the future holds.

There goes Guy Pettit smiling in the sunshine and his mind on a week-end at his Buckeye lake cottage. Says some crappies being caught, but little else. Bluegills, cats and bass still reluctant.

Dropped in at City Hall and with Chief Buggs did view the result of work of a would-be escapist. What a mess is that jail! No reflection on the police, but certainly on officials tolerating it. You wouldn't house a good horse or dog there. Damp, foul smelling, no beds — just wooden benches with no mats or covers. Anyone is justified in trying to break out. Why not drop in and look it over sometime. It is your property and you have every right to inspect it. And the odds are at least 100 to 1 that you will be both shocked and angry.

Home in the late afternoon and into the basement for a delayed general cleaning. Got through after a fashion, but wondering whatever has become of my stamina. Lolled around the rest of the evening and then at an unusually early hour did raid the ice box and turn toward bed where sleep came with no delay whatever.

Chronic Sinusitis Infection

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WORRY is a bad habit and one which more and more doctors are coming to regard as a real health hazard.

I have told you in earlier articles of the part worry is thought to play in causing stomach ulcers and now, Dr. Leland G. Hunnicutt of Pasadena, lists it along with other bad habits such as excessive smoking, abuse of alcoholic beverages, overeating and late hours, as a possible cause of chronic sinusitis. Any of these things may bring about congestion in the nose with a lowering of resistance and infection of the sinuses.

Other things which may bring about changes in the lining membrane of the nose and dispose toward sinus infection are lack of vitamins and minerals, as well as certain glandular disturbances.

Physical Examination

Therefore Dr. Hunnicutt believes that the first step in treating the person with chronic sinusitis is a careful physical examination to see if any such factors are contributing to his condition.

In treating the infection itself care must be taken not to injure the tissues of the nose. In the normal nose there is a covering of mucus over the lining membrane. This is gradually pushed toward the opening of the nose by the action of hair-like structures called cilia.

In planning the treatment of chronic sinus infection, nothing must be done which will interfere with the normal cleansing action of the cilia. For example, medicines used must contain no irritating chemicals, nor should they be either too acid or too alkaline as this also may interfere with the ciliary action.

Symptoms of Infection

The symptoms of chronic sinus infection consist of a continued nasal discharge, sometimes headache, perhaps occasional slight fever and pain in the face. In order to make a definite diagnosis an X-ray examination is of help.

Dr. Hunnicutt says that before the examination of the nose is made the patient should go for a period of about four days without using any medicine in the nose and without blowing the nose. At the end of this time the lining membrane of the nose will have returned to normal in so far as is possible, and the doctor is better able to tell exactly what conditions are present.

In children, surgical treatment of chronic sinus infection is usually not employed. Rather, infected material may be sucked out with a suction pump and the nose washed gently with solutions of salt and soda. In adults, surgical treatment, such as straightening the nasal septum, may be employed to increase the drainage from the nose, to increase the air space and to get rid of damaged or diseased tissue. The use in the nose of sulfonamide drugs and penicillin as a rule is not of much value for chronic infections but helpful in the acute ones.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, April 24

A PARTICULARLY lively and probably exciting state of affairs incident to a sudden, abrupt and dramatic turn of eventc, reaching deep at the root of plans and objectives is forecast. Fresh approach to new conditions should be soberly worked out, not only with ingenuity and skill but with an element of the novel, original and basic, in which the culmination may be possibly, far in the future. Final issues depend upon current aims.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of the sudden and unforeseen, with much adventure, change and innovation, the ultimate culmination of such efforts reaching far into the future. Serious thought and preparation should be given to plans and projects now, to come up for later decision, and having their roots in distant time and probably place. Travel, change, romance, are involved and demand practical rather than emotional or impulsive urges, for happy results.

A child born on this day may have many vital decisions to make in connection with sudden and disruptive turns in the affairs and conditions of a vivid career.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

SHERRY HAD braced herself to face this last weekend at the farm. For many reasons it wouldn't be easy. It meant saying goodby to Steve and Aunt Pen, seeing for the last time, perhaps, the old house she loved so much. Even in her thoughts she shied away from the knowledge that she wouldn't be seeing Lex again for months or years at least, maybe forever. And forever is a long and lonely time, so Sherry tried to shut her eyes against it. In the end she made it easier for herself by putting aside the disturbing thought of the future, by living each hour of the day and a half she and Leda stayed at Ridge Farm as though there were no time beyond it. And so the hours passed almost painlessly. Almost.

On Saturday night Lex went in to Chicago as usual to see Kay and the period of his absence was easier somehow. Leda was merry and charming, as she was so adept at being. She was full of talk of New York and of her new job and its possibilities. She had managed to reconcile herself to her separation from Sherry better than had seemed possible at first. This was due in large measure to the fact that she had convinced herself Sherry would grow tired of her dull little job in a strange little town in very short order. She had confided as much to Steve and, while he didn't agree with her, he had been glad that her self-deception made her feel happier about the situation. Once she was in the east, busy with her new job, she wouldn't have much time for missing Sherry, anyway. She would adjust herself—Leda was very adaptable, particularly since the new life she was embarking upon would be entirely to her liking. Her work, Steve supposed, must always come first with her. And if, as she grew older, she ever realized that she had lost more than she had gained by the bright material success which had always been her goal, it would be too late then to do anything about it. But it was too late even now, so Leda would have to cope with the loneliness that lay ahead of her as best she could.

Sherry sat rather silently on the rug before the fireplace, her bright head leaning now and then against Aunt Pen's knee. There was a small grate fire, since the evening was chill, and its radiance flickered across the room, picking out the gleam of bronze horses in the cabinets, the luster of old bric-a-brac.

It was Leda who told Steve and Pen the news about Val.

"Next January, the doctor says. And Wade is simply beside himself, he's so pleased. I'm glad, too. I think a child will be good for Val—even if it will make me a grandmother."

"A very young and lovely one, though," Steve said gallantly.

And Aunt Pen smiled with pleasure. "Good for her. I didn't think Val was that sensible. I'll knit it a whole outfit, sweater, leggings, little cap—"

Sherry sat there, her eyes on the blazing logs, thinking. Wondering about Val. Was she sensible, as Aunt Pen said? Or had she merely decided, since Wade had been generous and understanding about her affair with Kevin Blake and the near-tragedy that climaxed it, that she could be generous, too, and give him the child he wanted so badly? Even if that was it, the gesture might bear rich rewards for Val. She had seemed different the last few times Sherry had seen her. She had come home from her trip with Wade a little more mature, less youthfully self-centered. And already, months before their child would be born, their marriage seemed to have acquired a new depth and stability.

Maybe Val had been wiser than they knew when she married Wade Carrington. Maybe they could find happiness together. Had her affair with Kevin been a final looking back, a striving to find once more something lovely and young—but dead now and better forgotten? Sherry hoped it was like that. Thinking of the warm glow in Val's eyes when she spoke of the baby, the generous curve of her mouth as she thanked Wade for one of his innumerable small attentions, Sherry felt almost convinced.

And thinking of Val, Sherry felt more hopeful for her own future. Val had loved and lost and had fought and blundered her way through to a measure of happiness and contentment. Maybe you had to compromise with life, to turn your back on the love that might not be, to take a second choice.

But her heart cried out, I'll never love anyone but Lex.

Still, she had the sense to go away and try to make some sort of life for herself. That was certainly better than brooding. Friends and work—they were supposed to help, weren't they? Well, she would work hard. And she would try to make new friends. And some day, when she had grown older and wiser, the pain of forgetting might lessen somewhat.

On Sunday Sherry rode horseback with Lex over the familiar winding roads they had taken so many times before. She urged her horse on, her hair whipping in the wind, the ends of her scarlet kerchief flapping. She tried to shut the door of her mind against the words that pushed upon it. Last time. Last time.

After a while they left their horses grazing, tied to a maple sapling, and walked through a small wood to the bank of a stream. Not far beyond the spot where they dropped down onto the springy green sod, a crude, weathered little bridge spanned the water.

Sherry said, pointing toward it, "My father built that bridge long ago, before I was born."

Lex looked toward it for a moment in silence. Then he said, "There's a sort of immortality in a thing like that. It's like a monument to the man who built it. Only it's even better than the usual monument, because it serves a purpose and that gives it meaning and importance."

Sherry nodded. "I never thought of it like that, but it's true."

"Or take a house," Lex carried the idea further, "like Steve's house, that his grandfather built. Don't you believe some part of old Fabian Jeffrey survives in those very walls and in the trees he planted and the fields he tilled, all the works of his hands and brain?"

Sherry had felt that, although she had never tried before to put it into words. "It's—a sort of linking of the past and the future, like a chain. Ridge Farm should be handed on to children of Steve's. It seems such a pity it won't be."

They sat there, side by side, their eyes dreaming on space, the little stream flowing gently before them. Idly Lex picked up a stone and tossed it into the water. The ripples widened and were gone. Sherry's glance rested on his hands as he clasped them again around his knee. His hands were different now than when she had first met him. Harder, calloused, more weathered looking. Like Steve's hands, Sherry thought, or perhaps just like all farmers' hands. It was a good look of strength and capability, tempered with gentleness.

Her eyes lifted and met Lex's glance. She asked, "It's still exactly what you want, isn't it, Lex? All this—the woods and the fields and the quietness and peace?"

He said, "It's what I'll always want. I'm more sure every day. And when they're your own fields you plow and seed, as I've already begun to do—that's a good thing, Sherry. A fine thing. It fills some need that's so old and so deeply implanted it's gone down into man's blood and become a part of him. At least, that's how it is with me."

Sherry smoothed the young green grass with sensitive finger tips. "It's a good thing, too, to know what you want and to go after it, as you did, Lex. That's partly what gave me the courage to break free. You told me once—remember?—not to drift too long, that drifting could get to be a habit."

Lex nodded. He had said that the night they stood on the bridge, the night he had kissed her. Did Sherry remember that, too? A thickness came up in Lex's throat at the thought. It was shame, of course, because he had had no right to kiss her and she had been so swell about it. He brought his thoughts back to what Sherry was saying with an effort.

Words of Wisdom

If there is any person to whom you feel dislike, that is the person of whom you ought never to speak.—Cecil.

Hints on Etiquette

If a friend gives you a letter of introduction and for some reason you do not use it, you should make some explanation to the friend who wrote the letter for you.

Today's Horoscope

You read a great deal, retain and absorb the knowledge gleaned from it to use in your conversation. You seek the society of others who are well read and cultured and scorn superficial study. You like personal attention, but dislike flattery. The day's influences are not too good, so it would be better to leave well enough alone. Your next year will also be one of ups and downs, it is portended. Endeavor to restrain erratic conduct. Make changes only after careful reflection. Watch health. Some success and happiness will come your way. Elders both help and hinder. A complex character will be possessed by the child who is born today. He or she will be very forward and mercurial, also clever, witty, sarcastic, but good-natured, far-seeing and moderately successful.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THRIVE ON ADVERSITY

ONLY THE game fish swims upstream, they say, and only the fine bridge player seems to thrive on adversity. When the most harmful lead possible is made by the defense, a burden is sometimes put on him which nobody else in the same tournament has to carry. He may then he compelled to work out an intricate play in order to get the same result which his rivals at other tables obtain without the slightest real effort.

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 NT	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	7 ♣

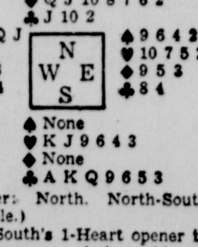

South was Walter Beinecke, chairman of New York's Inter-Club league, who was using the "Whist Club club" system, whereby 1-Club shows either an ace-king and an ace or three aces, a response of 1-No Trump shows two aces and of any suit except diamonds discloses the ace-king of the suit, an answer of 1-Diamond denying any of those. Thus he knew all about North's two aces on the first round—which a Blackwood conventioneer would learn later.

Other pairs in the tournament reached 7-Clubs, making the contract easily because two diamonds got ruffed in dummy. But West led a club against Mr. Beinecke, so he could ruff only one. He scored the club A and diamond A, ruffed the diamond 3, discarded a diamond and a heart on two top spades, led the spade 10 and over-ruffed East's club 10 with the J, then ran clubs.

With West marked for the spades and East probably the diamonds, neither could protect hearts when the double squeeze was built. As the eleventh trick brought the last club lead, Mr. Beinecke had the heart 6 and diamond 8, and dummy the heart A-J and spade 9. West dared not discard his spade, so threw the heart 9. The spade was discarded from dummy, and East now had an impossible assignment. If he tossed the diamond J, the 8 would be good, so he discarded his heart 5. Then the heart 6 to the A dropped both hostile honors, making the J good for the final trick.

Star Grange Hears Nutrition Program

Star grange members met in regular session Tuesday evening with Francis Furniss, president, in the chair.

At the business session the group voted to contribute $5 to the American cancer control campaign. A wedding gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Liston.

Mrs. Ida Ware, home economics instructor, of Williamsport high school, judged the eight entries in the molasses cookie contest. Gift prizes were awarded to Mrs. Albert Dennis, Mrs. Lyle Davis, and Mrs. Herman Porter. Mrs. C. E. Dick, chairman of the home economics committee, gave Mrs. Ware a gift of appreciation.

Mrs. Dick presented a nutrition program. Various articles on malnutrition and vitamins, were read by Mrs. Lloyd Neff, Mrs. Earl Liston, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. William Snyder, Mrs. Harry Bailey and Mrs. Dick.

Warner Neff auctioned off the cookies, with the proceeds of the sale being added to the collection for the silver tea, the project of the home economics committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Furniss, Miss Laura Long and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dennis served on the committee for the silver tea. Mrs. Furniss and Miss Long presided at the attractively decorated tea table, which was centered with a bouquet of daffodils and ferns, flanked by candles.

Next meeting will be May 13. At this time the men will be in charge of a mother's day banquet. During the evening the ladies will have a flower seed exchange.

GUEST NIGHT OBSERVED BY PAPYRUS CLUB

Guest night was observed by the Papyrus club Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Emmerson Downing, East Main street.

Miss Nell Weldon, president, welcomed the guests and presided during the meeting. Mrs. A. Hulse Hayes read the secretary's report. Miss Weldon then turned the meeting over to Mrs. W. W. Robinson, chairman of program committee. She presented the hostess, who read an original story written for children called, "Mr. Pinkey and Bixley Button".

Mrs. A. C. Turner read three of her original poems, "Tree Tops", "Masterpiece" and "How I Know". Mrs. Richard Jones presented her interpretation of a Spring flower in a story of "The Queen's Favorite". Mrs. E. O. Crites read one of her sequels to "Uncle Sandy", concerning the return of an old couple from a neighbors' auction sale, with all the humor and pathos encountered in their purchases.

TIMELY and most appropriate original poem, "Two Peace Ambassadors" was read by the author Mrs. George Fickardt. Mrs. Robinson spoke to the group on the self expression and satisfaction derived from being able to create poetry and urged more persons to be interested in the art of writing poetry. She read her original poems entitled, "Bloom", "To an Antique Desk", "Searching Wind" and "Child's Evening Thought'.

Mrs. M. B. Kellstadt read her original story, "And With the Angels Sing", vividly portraying the Negro servant doing the family dishes—assisted by the youthful white mistresses of the home. The harmonica playing lover Ben aided by 'Grandpa' brought the story of near tragedy in love and jealousy to a happy conclusion, through an epic of emotions of the servant for her Ben.

MISS WELDON read a letter from Mrs. Eleanor Groce Smith, who is associated with the Miami Herald in Miami, Florida. In her letter she said, "in her duties of reviewing the current books—both fiction and non-fiction the book, 'Bookman's Pleasure', compiled by Holbrook Johnson, contained excerpts of many of the world's most famous authors and would be of great interest to the Papyrus club members". Her letter accompanied the book as a gift to Miss Weldon.

Club members present were Miss Weldon, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Fickardt, Mrs. Crites, Miss Margaret Rooney, Mrs. Kellstadt, Mrs. Charles T. Gilmore, and the hostess.

Guests for the open meeting included, Mrs. Blanche Motschman, Mrs. R. H. Henry, Mrs. Donald Mitchell, Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, Mrs. Ingram Rush, Mrs. R. H. Gillan, Mrs. Enid Denham, and those from the Kingston community were, Mrs. Harvey Berry, Mrs. Fred Long, Mrs. Adrian McVery, Miss Ruth McKenzie and Mrs. Harry Reigel.

Old Timers Of SCO On Air Friday

"Old Timers" in baseball, now active in the South Central Ohio baseball league, will be interviewed by Jay Wagner, WCOL sports commentator on his sportscast at 6 p. m. Friday.

Selected for the broadcast are R. J. "Barney" Taggart, league commissioner; Frank Doyle, manager of Greenfield Athletics; Arthur Thomas, manager of Lancaster Anchor-Hocking team; Allen Lindsay, league president, and Claude D. Kraft, league vice president.

Taggart, long a popular figure in Ohio semi-pro circles, formerly played outfield with the Pittsburgh Pirates. As manager of the Chillicothe "Mead" club, he won the 1946 SCO pennant.

Doyle played all around the South during his 37 years in pro and semi-pro career. At 64 years of age he still radiates the same enthusiasm that made him one of the best infielders in the game.

Arthur Thomas, Anchor Hocking mentor, led his team to victory in the Central Ohio league playoff in 1946. He played semi-pro for 22 years, mostly in and around southeastern Ohio.

Lindsay and Kraft have each seen many years of baseball activity. With an over-abundance of energy and enthusiasm credited to each, they have added greatly to the inspiration responsible for what is perhaps the best organized league in the state.

The WCOL interview is a forerunner of weekly newscasts covering the league and game results, according to Robert Bailey, secretary of the league.

FEMALE half of the thrilling Betty and Benny Fox show was scheduled to arrive in Circleville Thursday evening. She will join partner Benny, who has been here for several days, in making final preparations for their death-defying "Sky Dance" on a high pole above the G. C. Murphy company store Thursday, May 1 at 10 a. m., 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. The Daily Herald is sponsoring this free show in Circleville.

DISTRICT COURT STUDIES APPEAL OF ORIN DILTZ

Decision on the appeal of Orin Diltz, 24, convicted of grand larceny in the looting of the parked auto of Vaden Couch in Circleville was under consideration, Thursday, by the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

The three appellate jurists took the appeal under advisement after listening to the arguments of opposing counsel at a hearing held Wednesday afternoon in the Pickaway county common pleas courtroom in Circleville. They are Judge Roy J. Gillen of Wellston, Judge Russell K. McCurdy of Portsmouth, and Judge Verner E. Metcalf of Marietta.

Diltz is now in the Ohio Penitentiary serving a sentence of one to seven years imposed by Judge William D. Radcliff after a jury last Feb. 5 found Diltz guilty. Diltz and George Clifton, 23, were also jointly indicted on a charge of having committed the $1,300 burglary of the American Legion club in Circleville last Nov. 9 but the trial date remains unset.

REDS DEPENDING ON VETERANS; ROOKIES FAIL

ST. LOUIS, April 24 — It became apparent today that whatever chances Cincinnati's Reds have of escaping the National League cellar are carried on the accustomed backs of their veteran hurlers.

The Chicago Cubs made merry, 7 to 1, yesterday at the expense of rookie Eddie Erautt. It was the second disappointing mound chore in three attempts by the former Pacific Coast strikeout king.

The lanky youngster has been charged with three losses, although he hurled well in his first start against the Cardinals.

Everet Lively, another rookie counted upon heavily by Manager Johnny Neun, has fared even worse. He has twice failed to survive the first inning.

In fact, only Kent Peterson has held up his end among the recruits. Peterson had hurled only one inning of organized balll before this year, that back in 1944 before a hitch of military service.

Neun called on his erstwhile belwether Bucky Walters at St. Louis today in an important test of the veteran's condition. Should Walters, Johnny Vander Meer and Elmer Riddle join Ewell Blackwell and Joe Beggs on the firing line, the Reds would once again have a formidable pitching crew.

Riddle, out for two years with arm trouble, has done well in two relief roles. The aging Walters' test today will be his first. Vander Meer has a stiff arm and won't be called upon until the Reds encounter warmer weather.

Like a look at your Future— RIGHT NOW?

JUST pause a moment on any corner of the smartest street in town.

Wait till you see this gleaming grille bearing down on you—these long fender lines sweeping past—this trim rear bumper flashing its farewell.

That's not just the new '47 Buick you're seeing, but the tip-off on tomorrow as far as car styling is concerned.

Here's the long, low, sweeping look designers even now are striving to equal.

Here's the broad beam that tells of plenty-room, the proud bearing that spells power and ability and steady road-wise going.

We're not saying you'll match this flashing action elsewhere—Buick's frugal Fireball combustion principle and Accurite cylinder finish give us pretty much of a corner on that.

And not everywhere will you find the fluid stride, the ever-easy comfort of soft, BuiCoil springing on all four wheels. Only Buick, after all, can be all a Buick is.

But here's the way the smartest cars will dress themselves—for a long while to come. Here's a high-styled high stepper that will keep you among the first-in-fashion for years and years.

That being so—why hesitate? There's no smarter step you can take to make your dollar count and cut your waiting to the minimum—than to get your order in now.

YANKEES BEAT FERRISS, TAKE AMERICAN LEAD

Cubs Retain Top National Spot By Trouncing Erautt And Reds

NEW YORK, April 24—Agreement seems pretty general that Joseph Paul Di Maggio has been the difference to the Yankees between probably failure and current success; that, without him, they wouldn't be occupying the American League top roost, as they are today. But that isn't the half of it.

For without Di Maggio, they might also be without Allie Reynolds, who yesterday pitched the club into the league lead with his second shutout in two starts this year, a two-hit, 3-0 win over the champion Red Sox.

Told the Yanks had an open choice of Cleveland pitchers, including Reynolds, Embree, Steve Gromek—anybody but Feller — Di Mag unhesitatingly said Reynolds. And Reynolds it was.

After shutting out the senators, 7-0, in his first start, Allie had a no-hitter going into the seventh inning yesterday but Rudy York spoiled it with a double. Rudy also got the other Sox hit, a single in the ninth. The Yanks made everything count, notably Aaron Robinson's single and homer, in beating Dave Derriss for the first time since 1945.

In climbing to the leadership, they displaced the Chicago White Sox, who suffered their first defeat of the embryo campaign. It was a 7-4 beating by the Tigers who blasted 10 hits for 18 extra bases against Ed Lopat and Gordon Maltzberger.

• • •

THEY SAID the departure of Hank Greenberg would mean a vital loss of power to the Tigers, but you couldn't prove it by yesterday's eighth inning. Roy Cullenbine, Dick Wakefield and "Hoot" Evers hit successive homers, all told, with Cullenbine hitting two.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, continued on their merry way at the head of the National League procession by belting the world's champion Cardinals into an 8-5 defeat.

The payoff was Bill Cox's grand-slam homer during the five-run second inning, with George Munger the victim.

THE BROOKLYNS hung on to the second rung by making it two in a row over the Phillies, 5-2—largely the result of a three-run opening inning in which the only hit was Pete Reiser's double. It was a ball that got away from Del Ennis in the wind. Oscar Judd's three walks and an infield error did the rest.

The Cubs and Braves won to pull into a third place tie with the Phils at .500. The Cubs took rookie Ed Erautt apart to win from the Reds, 7-1.

MEANWHILE, the Giants got 12 hits and only one run in losing, 5-1 to the Braves — thanks to Warren Spahn's niggradly pitching with men on.

In the other league, the Red Sox second straight loss to the Yanks dropped the former into a third-place tie with the Indians, who battered Denny Galehouse and Ellis Kinder for 18 hits in winning from the Browns, 10-4.

COLONELS BEAT BIRDS 3-1; HENS TROUNCE TRIBE

By International News Service

The American Association's two remaining undefeated teams were slated to clash in Minneapolis today, weather permitting, when the Millers played host to Kansas City.

That phrase, "weather permitting," was the joker, however.

Minneapolis, along with its twin city rival, St. Paul, was rained out yesterday for the second straight day. Both the Millers and Saints are still trying vainly to work their home openers in between showers.

The Saints were to entertain Milwaukee today.

Kansas City currently leads the Association pack with three straight victories. Minneapolis has been able to play only one game all season. The Millers won that one.

In two games played last night, the Toledo Mud Hens turned on the heat to swamp Indianapolis, 13 to 7. The Hens scored nine runs in the last two innings.

Louisville whipped Columbus, 3 to 1, as 18-year-old Maury McDermott spun a six-hitter. The Colonels collected 11 safeties off Pete Mazar and Alex Patterson.

Columbus plays at Indianapolis tonight and Toledo at Louisville.

BROWNS SIGN TWO

CLEVELAND, April 24—Harold "Moon" Mullins, a tackle from Duke, and Leo Less, a guard from Miami of Ohio, were under contract today to play for the champion Cleveland Browns of the All-America football conference.

ASHVILLE REDS SET FOR SUNDAY OPENING GAME

Special Ceremonies To Mark First SCO Game Of 1947 Season

Judge William D. Radcliff will pitch the first ball in the opening baseball game Sunday at Ashville. His receiver will be Dr. G. E. Peters, who was one of the best baseball players ever to represent Ashville. Guy G. Cline, president of the Ashville Community Club, will be honorary umpire.

A public address system is to be used at the South Central Ohio league opener with Grove City. A radio commentator and representatives from several newspapers are scheduled to be present for the game which starts a new SCO season.

MANAGER Carl Gulick plans to put an experienced team on the field. His starting pitcher will not be announced until game time. Either Leonard Hornsby, a left hander with plenty of stuff, or Bill Black, a righthander who is in excellent condition for early season, will get the starting nod. Russ Gregg, handicapped by illness, will not be in condition for Sunday's game.

Tentative starting lineup for the first game is: Robert Tracy, cf; Carl Gulick, ss; "Snapper" Ankrom, 3b; Wally Noon, 2b; Bob Harper, lf; Jay Gregg, 1b; Harold Gulick, c; Tom Creiglow or Benny Sawyer, rf.

ALL INDICATIONS are that the South Central Ohio league will be much stronger than last year. The newcomers to the league, Lancaster Anchor Hocking and Grove City, add two powerful clubs. All teams have been strengthened including Ashville which is expected to surprise a few teams during the season.

Pickaway county is fortunate to have a representative in this league. Baseball followers are of the opinion that the South Centrall Ohio is one of the best organized leagues in the state of Ohio. Improved brand of baseball will be played in this community and fans will receive many thril's this season.

It has been predicted that the winner of this league will not win more than 15 games. Also that there will not be more than five games between the winner and last place team at the season's close.

IKE WILLIAMS, WILLIE RUSSELL SET FOR FIGHT

COLUMBUS, O., April 24 — N.B.A. world lightweight champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., and Columbus' Willie Russell marked time today as they awaited their ten-round fight tomorrow night in the state fairgrounds coliseum.

Only verbal punches were tossed by the two principals in the Ohio capital's first big ring battle in many years.

Williams boasted that he intended to dispose of Russell "in a hurry" and Willie countered with a statement that the champ was "just another fighter" to him.

Both weighed 138 pounds after their final strenuous workouts yesterday. They expect to scale 137 at weighing in time tomorrow.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not barring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; makeshift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming ... if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

NEED BIGGER STAFFS

CHICAGO—More than half of all hospital beds in the U. S. are occupied by mental patients, yet only one doctor in 47 is a psychiatrist—trained specially to diagnose and treat mental illness. This critical need for bigger staffs at public institutions for mental care is being reflected in current action of several state legislatures according to the Civil Service Assembly.

MARSHALL SAID GETTING READY REPORT TO U. S.

State Secretary Expected To Address Public On Big 4 Conference

WASHINGTON, April 24—Secretary of State George C. Marshall was reported today to be planning an address to the American people on his return from the apparently fruitless conference of "Big Four" foreign ministers in Moscow.

Marshall was expected home over the weekend, with the conference scheduled to end today.

Marshall's return will be his first as top diplomatic man at an international conference. He has attended many high-level military meetings during the war but, as secretary of state, this was his first. Moreover, the meeting was regarded as far more important than those which produced the treaties for the Nazi-satellite states — Hungary, Romania, and Bulgaria — and Italy and Finland.

OFFICIALS were uncertain as to what method Marshall would use to convey his report on the Moscow conference to the American people. He might simply issue a formal statement, make a radio address or speak before a joint session of congress.

Of the three methods, the latter was believed most likely. By so doing he would emphasize the prestige he attaches to congress' role in international affairs. He also would use to advantage the high esteem in which he is generally held on capitol hill.

The report which Marshall will make was not expected to be optimistic.

On departing for Moscow he made clear that the most he hoped for was a general agreement on fundamental principles for the drafting of the peace treaty for Germany. The conferees have made little progress along these lines.

* * *

SUCH FUNDAMENTAL questions as Russia's demands for reparations out of current production and Germany's future boundaries appeared as far from agreement as before. Little progress was made on the future form of Germany's government.

Marshall appeared to have met with a complete rebuff by the Soviet Union on his proposal for a four-power pact for the future control of Germany. This break was considered by many as even more fundamental than many other divergencies between the East and the West.

Failure to achieve agreement on the Austrian treaty also was considered a rebuff to American foreign policy. Drafting of a peace treaty for this gateway to the Balkans was regarded by Marshall before he left as a minimum of what could be hoped for at Moscow.

Added up, the results of the Moscow conference, as Marshall is expected to describe them, are likely to rally further support for President Truman's policy of halting forceful Communist domination of borderline states.

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF ADVISING WIFE TO LEAVE

DAYTON, O., April 24—A hundred thousand dollar suit against a Lebanon doctor for alienation of affections was on file today in Montgomery county common pleas court, Dayton.

Floyd W. Smith, also of Lebanon, alleged that Dr. Robert M. Blair last August advised his wife, Vivien, "to live separate and apart and terminate their marriage" if she wanted to restore her health. Mrs. Smith had consulted the doctor about a "nervous and irritable" condition.

Dr. Blair married Smith's former wife last month after she obtained a divorce in October.

Baking Carnival

Carnival Marble Cake

MADE BY BETTY CROCKER
"Double-Quick" NEW METHOD

Cuts your mixing time ½;
No creaming . . . no egg beating

Have all ingredients room temperature (70° to 75°). (Shortening should be soft, not melted.) Preheat oven to 350° (moderate). Grease generously and dust with flour 2 round layer pans, 9-in. diameter, 1½ in. deep, or 1 oblong pan, 9 x 13 x 2 in., or 1 square pan, 9 x 9 x 2 in. Sift GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour before measuring. Measure all ingredients accurately (level) before starting to mix.

Sift together into bowl . . .
- 2⅛ cups (2 cups plus 2 tbsp.) sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour
- *1½ cups sugar
- 3½ tsp. double-action baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt

Add . . . . . .
- ½ cup high grade vegetable shortening
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tsp. flavoring

Beat vigorously with spoon for 2 minutes by clock (about 150 strokes per minute). You may rest a moment when beating by hand; just count actual beating time or strokes. Or mix with electric mixer on slow to medium speed for 2 minutes. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl frequently.

Add . . . . . .
- ½ to ⅔ cup unbeaten egg whites (4 large)

Continue beating 2 more minutes, scraping bowl frequently. Pour about ⅔ of batter into prepared pan or pans.

To remaining batter add . . .
- 1 sq. unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.), melted, mixed with
- ¼ tsp. soda
- 2 tbsp. warm water
- ¼ tsp. red food coloring, if desired

Mix until well blended (about ½ minute). Pour chocolate batter here and there over white batter. Cut through batter several times with knife for marbled effect.

Bake layers 25 to 30 minutes; oblong cake 35 to 40 minutes; square cake 50 to 55 minutes in moderate oven (350°). (Square cakes often "crack.") Delicious uniced . . . warm from the oven . . . or frosted, when cool, with your favorite white icing.

TO SAVE ON SUGAR: Use ¾ cup white corn syrup and only ¾ cup sugar. Reduce milk to ¾ cup plus 1 tbsp. Add syrup with milk to dry ingredients.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Mr. Truman said last week if prices increased again, further wage increases would be justified. Well if these settlements result in another price increase, then the unions can follow Mr. Truman and demand another wage increase. Each step is another zooming push upward in an inflationary spiral, which diminishes all values toward the destruction point.

These developments may not prove as unhappy as their nature suggests. They may lead the Republicans to strengthen their bill in time. Indeed Mr. Truman could well join any move to establish firmly the present economic line until full production restores the forces of competitive enterprise. They could both join in stopping any further price or wage increases until those forces become operative.

These pattern agreements have already been made, true enough. But congress could easily provide that any such step taken in he public interest be made retroactive, say to the day of the last election.

Opinions expressed by the writer in the column are the views of the author and not necessarily those of the Circleville Herald.

DEPLORE DIVORCE RATE

ONTARIO, Calif.—Alarmed at the state's rising divorce rate, Ontario pastors have pledged themselves not to marry divorced persons who cannot prove that divorce grounds were "sufficient from a Christian viewpoint." The Ontario ministerial union also urged feuding couples to consult a minister before visiting a divorce lawyer.

NEW YORK, April 24—Fred Allen, the madcap comedian who has a mad on for radio vice presidents, told a joke on them during his Sunday night broadcast. But it turned out to be a private witticism with his studio audience.

NBC cut 25 seconds of the program off the air because Allen, explained the network, insisted on telling this joke which they didn't approve of.

It all happened because the Sunday before last Allen used up his 30 minutes of air time before finishing his script. The network had to cut in to get the next program on the air on time. So this week, he made a joke about it.

On Friday, NBC said the joke wouldn't go. Saturday and just before the program on Sunday, according to NBC, the comedian was told again a change would have to be made because the company didn't approve of that sort of ridicule of radio.

Here's what you missed during the 25 seconds of silence from your loudspeaker. Portland asked what happened the week before when they were cut off the air.

Allen: well, there is a little man in the company we work for. (That's as much as the listening audience heard.) He is vice president in charge of program runs overtime, he marks down how much time is saved.

Portland: What does he do with all this time?

Allen: He adds it all up, 10 seconds here, 20 seconds there, and when the vice president has saved up enough seconds, minutes and hours to make two weeks, he uses the two weeks of our time for his vacation. (the radio audience, meantime, blaming the tubes, condensers, and the radio repairman for missing that small bit heard Allen come back on the air with): "Well, enough about minor matters."

The dispute seemed to be over the reference to "the company we work for." NBC, said the advertising agency for Allen's sponsor, suggested that he write in "the advertising agency we work for." If they want to write my script, said the comedian, why don't they come in on Monday with the rest of the writers. "They said I couldn't kid radio."

HOLLYWOOD, April 24 — Comedians Bob Hope and Red Skelton today were figuratively "stood in the corner" with Fred Allen by the National Broadcasting company.

Both Hope and Skelton were briefly cut off the air in rapid succession Tuesday night when they started making ad lib puns about network censorship.

Hope was the first to get the silent treatment last night. He was discussing the famous gambling center of Las Vegas, Nev., when he quipped:

"You can get tanned and faded at the same time — of course, Fred Allen can get faded anytime."

As far as the radio audience was concerned that was as far as he got. He was immediately cut off the network.

Skelton, whose program immediately follows Hope's, said:

"We might ad lib something to hurt the dignity of NBC. Did you hear what happened to Fred Allen Sunday?"

Skelton was immediately cut off the air for a few seconds When he was returned to the network, Red said:

"Well, I see we have rejoined the parade of the stars."

A lighted house number is a great convenience to your guests and others trying to find a certain number. An attractive effect can be obtained with a 3-watt bulb behind a frosted glass panel in a small metal box recessed in the wall.

Hopes for Acquittal

ON TRIAL in Washington on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in the Garsson war contracts case, Andrew J. May, former congressman from Kentucky, has predicted to newsmen that he will be "vindicated and acquitted." May, 71, is charged with receiving or agreeing to receive, $53,634 from the brothers Henry and Murray Garsson while he was a member of Congress. (International)

City School Bond Issue Can Pass With 60 Percent Vote

NEW STATE LAW REDUCES VOTE TO PASS ISSUE

Disabled, Absent Voters' Ballot Deadline Next Thursday, May 1

Under a new state law the bond issue for school improvement and expansion will be passed May 6 if 60 per cent of the voters who cast their ballots on that date vote in favor of the issue.

Previously the approval of at least 65 per cent was necessary but notification was received Thursday by the Pickaway county board of elections from Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel that the requirement has been dropped 5 per cent.

The state secretary declared that the act stipulating 60 per cent was passed by the legislature April 1 as an emergency measure, was signed April 3 by Governor Thomas J. Herbert, and became effective immediately.

DISABLED and absent voters' ballots will be issued up until 6:30 p. m. May 1, the elections board said, and 12 noon May 2 will be the deadline for voting and returning such ballots to the office of he board in the basement of the courthouse.

Soldiers' absent voter's ballots may be cast any time up until noon on election day at the elections board office or at the proper precinct polling place on election day.

The polls will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. for the May 6 balloting in which 18 candidates — 16 Democrats and 2 Republicans — willl seek party nominations at the primary for 12 Circleville political posts. The only contests will be for mayor, councilman-at-large, and councilman in the 3rd and 4th wards.

INDICATIONS are that the interest of the voters will be focused chiefly on the proposed school bond issue which is to be balloted on at a special election to be held simultaneously with the regular primary on May 6.

Voters in the Circleville city School District, embracing Circleville and a part of Circleville township, will ballot "for" or "against" the bond issue which has three major aims, namely (1) construction of a vocational education building with complete equipment for the training of youths in industrial trades, (2) a physical education building with an adequately equipped gymnasium, and (3) remodeling and modernization of portions of the present school buildings.

CIRCLEVILLE now has 12 precincts as a result of the recent division of Precinct A in Ward 1 into two voting precincts. The elections board also pointed out that voters in Circleville township eligible to vote on the school bond issue will cast such ballots at Precinct D, Ward 1, in Circleville. This precinct is located at Helvering's filling station on East Main street.

The newly created precinct is Precinct E in Ward 1, and the polling place will be in the office of the Forest cemetery, North Court street.

Following is a complete and up-to-date list of Circleville's precinct polling places:

Ward 1, Precinct A, Shell filling station, North Court street.
Ward 1, Precinct B, American Hotel.
Ward 1, Precinct C, Community House, East Main street.
Ward 1, Precinct D, Helvering filling station, East Main street.
Ward 1, Precinct E, Forest cemetery office.
Ward 2, Precinct A, Central Fire Station, East Franklin street.
Ward 2, Precinct B, Shellhamer garage, East Mound street.
Ward 3, Precinct A, County Engineer's office, courthouse.
Ward 3, Precinct B, Winfough's garage, West Ohio street.
Ward 4, Precinct A, George Himrod, South Pickaway street.
Ward 4, Precinct B, Blubaugh Implement company, Clinton and Mill streets.
Ward 4, Precinct C, Sears and Nichols, South Washington street.

FALLING PANTS MAKES SNATCHER CAPTURE EASY

EVANSTON, Ill., April 24—Because his ill-fitting pants began to slip as he fled, 26-year-old Ormand O. Palmer of Plymouth, Ind., was in jail at Evanston today.

Police said Palmer was an ex-convict and dishonorably discharged Army deserter who had admitted seven purse snatchings in Evanston and nearby Wilmette.

They said he assaulted Mrs. Patrick Hayes yesterday and stole her purse containing $10.

As he started to run, Mrs. Hayes screamed. Two patrolmen heard her and gave chase. Palmer's trousers began to droop and impeded his flight. The officers captured him easily.

At the lockup it was discovered he was wearing a second pair of pants under the ill-fitting ones. The outside pair were identified as stolen.
